Labor Chiefs Gather to Talk War Against Lewis

FIGHT FLARES OVER STEEL UNION PLAN

Ouster of Mine Worker Group from A. F. of L. May Be Ordered

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor gathered today to decide whether to wage war on John L. Lewis and fellow insurgents engaged in the gigantic struggle to organize 500,000 steel workers into a single industrial union.

Angry accusations from the opposing camps of industrial and craft unionists indicated no peace was in sight in the quarrel threatening to split the A. F. of L. wide apart with profound consequences for the future history of organized labor.

Green Berates Lewis

William Green, president of the A. F. of L. and spokesman for its dominant faction of craft unionists, said bitterly that Lewis' "unwise policy" had produced only "division, discord and confusion" in labor ranks and would benefit "only the enemies of organized labor."

Lewis, United Mine Workers' head and leader of the drive to organize steel workers into a single unit instead of into various unions according to the craft they work at, immediately flared back.

Lewis Flares Back

He said that if the A. F. of L. executive council "elects to join with the corporations composing the American Iron and Steel Institute" in fighting the Lewis group, "the shame of such a dishonorable action will lie on the heads of Mr. Green and his irreconcilable associates."

The executive council, convening this afternoon, faced a decision whether to remove Lewis' mine workers and 11 other unions from the federation. This group, all enrolled in the committee for (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

PENNSYLVANIA RELIEF HALTS

HARRISBURG, Pa., (AP)—State relief in Pennsylvania was at a standstill today, the state's funds for such purposes exhausted and the legislature deadlocked over the amount to be appropriated for care of 500,000 unemployed.

The Republican senate countered with an estimate of $35,000,000 for relief purposes until Jan. 1, as opposed to the Democratic administration's insistence that $55,000,000 is needed. In the Democratic house, Republicans joined the majority group yesterday in passing a bill to appropriate the $55,000,000.

SNAKE TORTURE TO BE RE-ENACTED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A macabre plan to bring a live rattlesnake into court and re-enact with an artificial foot the grotesque snake torture which the state alleges preceded the death by drowning of Mrs. Mary Busch James, was announced today by attorneys for Robert S. James, former Birmingham, Ala., barber. James is on trial on a charge of murdering the woman, his seventh wife. The state alleges he allowed rattlesnakes to bite her, holding her foot in a box of the reptiles, and that failing to kill her, drowned her in a bathtub, later placing her body face downward in a fishpond to make it appear accidental.

The re-enactment, the attorneys said, would be to determine if Charles Hope, former sailor who confessed to the torture of Mrs. James to her murder, was telling the truth when he said a rattlesnake will strike at a swiftly moving object.

Labor Leaders at Loggerheads

Led by William Green (left), president of the American Federation of Labor, leaders of the federation met in Washington today to decide whether to wage war on John L. Lewis (right) and his fellow insurgents who are seeking to organize steel workers into a single unit instead of into various unions according to the craft they work at. Lewis is head of the United Mine Workers.

Irvine Will Build Bay Dam in 1937

The Irvine company probably will launch its $180,000 dam project at the head of Newport bay during the coming year. Indications of renewed activity on the water conservation program were seen today in the report by C. Roy Browning, Irvine company engineer, that he has been making new tests of the foundation under the proposed structure.

Browning said he believed the dam would reach the construction stage within the coming year. Santa Ana has been interested in the project in view of suggestions that have been considered for piping storm water to the reservoir from the city's streets. At present the storm water goes into the Delhi drainage district ditches, but this method of disposal is not regarded as permanent.

The new tests on the dam's foundation have proved entirely satisfactory, Browning said. The dam reservoir would have a capacity of 7000 acre feet. It would drain a watershed of 106 square miles. So far as is known it is the only dam ever proposed which would be built approximately at sea level.

Water from the reservoir would be pumped back to farm lands behind the reservoir and would be used for irrigation.

The area surrounding Newport bay has always been looked upon as ideal for development as a residential section, and water from the reservoir might be used for domestic consumption in later years.

According to Browning, 10,000 acre feet of water flowed into Newport bay in 1927, from the area to be drained for the proposed reservoir. That year, however, was a flood year.

Man, 66, Weds First Girl Of 16 on First Pension Check

COLUMBUS, Tex.—Oscar Crawford, 66, received his first state old age pension check for $13 and soon after appeared at a courthouse with 16-year-old Lydia Haverman at his side and asked for his first marriage license.

Clerks refused to issue it until the bride's father appeared and consented. He nodded approval while the county judge read the wedding ceremony. Immediately the couple left for the groom's 18-acre farm near here.

LANDON WINS LAW SETUP

TOPEKA, Kan., (AP)—While Gov. Alf M. Landon gave attention to his presidential campaign and state business, the Republican majority in the Kansas legislature succeeded today in limiting its special session to Landon's recommendations.

Amid sharp debate by some Democrats, the senate voted 25 to 10 to adopt a concurrent resolution confining the session to proposed constitutional amendments on social security. The house already had adopted the resolutions, 64 to 47.

The action tabled bills Sen. Joseph McDonald, Democrat, introduced to effect immediate legislation.

Likewise, it tabled a McDonald resolution for an investigation of state relief.

A further proposition by McDonald for legislative action to "put Kansas civil service laws into effect" was defeated in the senate, 27 to 9.

In Hope's story of how he and James placed Mrs. James' foot in the box of rattlesnakes so that she would be bitten. The defense counsel declared a snake's eyesight is bad and that a snake cannot see what it is striking at unless the object is still.

Dr. Charles Decker, former Los Angeles city health officer, was called to the stand today to explain identifications on the head of Mrs. Winona Wallace James, the barber's fifth wife. The state alleges the fifth wife also was a victim of a plot by James, having been found drowned in a bathtub in Manitou, Colo., after being seriously injured in an accident.

By depicting James as a neurotic man whose twisted mind resulted largely from an unhappy, sordid childhood, attorneys for the barber continued today their desperate fight to bar from the jury his alleged confession that he killed his wife.

CROP LOSSES MOUNTING RAPIDLY

Government Goes Into Action To Give Work To Farm Families

CHICAGO, (AP)—The nation counted at least 72 dead today as record-shattering heat engulfed the drought-damaged Midwest for the sixth consecutive day.

Crop losses—already estimated at approximately $300,000,000—mounted rapidly under a searing sun that drove temperatures as high as 120 degrees.

No relief was sighted. Meteorologists predicted, instead, a continuation of the fair and torrid weather that has spread death, misery and destruction across the midcontinent.

U. S. Into Action

But desperate western planters received some good news. President Roosevelt swung the government into action behind a program designed to carry 170,000 farm families and their harassed livestock through the crisis. He announced at Washington late yesterday they would receive aid through WPA work and subsistence loans and grants while small cattle breeders would receive federal loans to save their foundation herds.

204,000 Needy Families

The President estimated 204,000 farm families—the bulk of them in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wyoming and Montana—were in need of some form of immediate cash relief. He said 50,000 were being employed on WPA work digging, dam building, and farm-to-market road construction projects at an average weekly wage of $15. He disclosed 2800 in North Dakota, 800 in Minnesota and between 300 and 400 in Montana.

Mr. Roosevelt said subsistence loans would be advanced to 50,000 families through the Resettlement administration in addition to 70,000 already receiving such aid. Means of assisting 34,000 others must be worked out.

To Visit 'Dust Bowl'

He also announced plans to adjust "dust bowl" farmers to new enterprises.

Next month, the President said, he would visit the "dust bowl," the Dakotas and possibly Minnesota to gauge the progress of the program.

Earlier, the agriculture department named 97 "emergency counties" in the arid areas of the Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming. Federal relief will be concentrated upon them. The AAA also modified its soil conservation program (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

PAYS $250,832 OIL TAX BILL

Orange county's largest single tax payment—more than a quarter of a million dollars—is to be deposited with County Treasurer Terry E. Stephenson tomorrow by County Assessor James Sleeper.

The payment was made by the Standard Oil company for its mineral rights in Orange county oil fields, and totaled $250,832.03. It does not cover personal property, such as absorption plants or service stations, on which taxes will be paid in the fall.

Assessor Sleeper deposited the oil company check with a local bank and is to deposit a certified check with the treasurer tomorrow.

Christmas Tree Orders Pile Up Despite Heat

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—It's hot, the temperatures are heading for summer's highest marks, but a group of Pittsburgh men and women is getting ready for Christmas.

Sweltering in the heat of a little office, they are filling orders for Christmas trees. They explained the national demand for pine and cedar trees probably will reach 17,500,000 and orders have to go to Canadian and northern state dealers well in advance.

And, they add, it's only 170 days until Christmas.

Body of Oil Executive Washed Up at Laguna

Sound at 97

John D. Rockefeller sat down today before a cake that had 97 candles on it and remarked: "The condition of my health is a miracle to me." The aged multimillionaire at his Lakewood, N. J., estate expressed confidence he will live to be 100.

'JOHNDEE' IS 97 TODAY

Rockefeller's Health Is 'Miracle' to Him; and He Eats Cake

LAKEWOOD, N. J., (AP)—Ninety-seven candles shone today on John D. Rockefeller's birthday cake, with one slice reserved for the aged financier himself.

"Of course he'll eat some," said a member of his household. "There's no reason why he won't eat cake because he eats everything he wants."

This declaration added emphatic though unofficial support to a statement issued by the multimillionaire for his birthday anniversary.

His good condition of health is simply a miracle to me."

With members of his family and a few friends gathering to join in a quiet celebration of the event, today was another milestone in Mr. Rockefeller's march to his goal—a century of preparation after which, he once said, he "shall begin to really live."

For the first time in many years, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the only son, was not present to congratulate his father on the opening of another year. He is in France.

One of Two Anniversaries

His birthday is one of two anniversaries which the pioneer of modern business methods celebrates. The other is Sept. 26. It was on that date in 1855 that he got his first job.

He worked at that job more than three months, and was paid $50. Then he got a raise to $25 a month.

Years later his fortune was estimated—and denied—to be as high as $240,000,000. In 85 years he gave away considerably more than half a billion dollars.

SIGN 10,500 ON DRY PETITION

That approximately 10,500 Orange county residents are in favor of a local option system of liquor control was revealed Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church, when dry workers rallied to concentrate upon a drive for additional support this week.

Nearly 200 workers have been circulating petitions to place the local option measure on the November ballot, and have secured the 10,500 signatures in the past six weeks.

Noon of July 13 has been set as deadline for submission of petitions to Harry W. Lewis at the First Methodist church. Lewis is taking charge of the work, managed until now by S. E. Hearn, who has been forced to withdraw because of illness.

SLIPPED OVER CLIFF WHEN FISHING

Earl Carlson of New York Believed to Have Been Heart Victim

The battered body of Earl V. Carlson, 42, New York oil company executive, washed up near Laguna Beach this morning, was to be examined this afternoon to determine the cause of his disappearance and death last night.

Carlson, vacationing at his mother's home in South Pasadena, had been fishing from the rocks at South Laguna yesterday afternoon with a companion, Miss Violet Lacy of Altadena. After Miss Lacy left to buy food in Laguna, he apparently slipped off the rocks into the water.

The body was washed ashore this morning at the mouth of Salt creek, a short distance up the coast from the spot where he disappeared. Miss Lacy found his fishing pole and glasses on the rock, she told Deputy Sheriff I. L. Brown and C. F. Wacker.

With a possibility that he may have died of a heart attack and then slipped from the rock to fall 25 feet into the water, an autopsy was to be held this afternoon at Laguna Beach, Coroner Earl Abbey announced.

Carlson, sales manager for the Hyvis Oil Company, New York, was living with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Carlson, in South Pasadena.

BLAME TWO FOR AUTO DEATH

A coroner's jury yesterday blamed both a dead man and an injured driver for a fatal accident July 4.

It decided "both drivers were equally negligent" for an accident in Santa Ana canyon early Saturday morning, which proved fatal to Hilario Rodriguez, 28, Santa Ana, and injured Irwin Madden.

No charges will be placed against Madden, the district attorney's office reported today.

An inquest into the fourth traffic death of the week-end, that of Mrs. Alma Lindsey, was to be held this afternoon at the Brown and Wagner funeral home.

KING FLIES OWN PLANE ON TRIP

LONDON, (AP)—King Edward inspected the Royal Air Force by air today—flying in his own airplane on a tour of several airbases.

With him, in the blue and red ship, travelled the Duke of York, heir-apparent to the throne.

The king, as chief of the air force, wore a light blue uniform with the new British field service cap. The Duke of York was similarly uniformed.

It was the sovereign's fourth flight since his accession to the throne in January.

Many Injured in Strike Rioting

CINCINNATI, (AP)—Riots in which a bystander was wounded, 30 or more persons injured and two buses wrecked in running fights brought James H. Rand, Jr., president of Remington-Rand, Inc., to Cincinnati today for conference looking toward settlement of a six-week strike.

A 24-hour truce between the company and the strikers closed the plant after three days operation in which stone throwing and hand-to-hand encounters had occurred each evening at the close of work.

TEAR GAS IS HURLED IN MEETING

Crowd Jams Court at Communists' Hearing In Fullerton

Orange county's "guerrilla warfare" citrus strike was characterized today by the following developments:

1. A loaded machine gun and five deputies "stood guard" at the preliminary examination of 13 alleged rioters in the Anaheim justice court.

2. "Vigilantes" broke up a strikers' meeting at El Modena last night with a tear gas bomb.

3. Attorneys battled today to select a jury in the Fullerton justice court for the trial of Charles McLaughlin, Communist strike sympathizer.

4. One hundred fifteen alleged rioters were to be arraigned in Fullerton justice court today.

A loaded machine gun brought the "guerrilla warfare" atmosphere dramatically into the Anaheim justice court today when 13 Mexican strikers appeared for their preliminary examination, on rioting charges. Five deputy sheriffs also stood guard to prevent any outbreak of violence.

A large crowd was on hand when the 13 were bound over to the superior court for trial.

Deputy Sheriff James Musick stood in the courtroom, a loaded "Tommy gun" at his side. The other four deputies watched the spectators, who watched the deputies.

"Army" Awaits Call

The defendants were arrested Monday as a result of a wave of riots in which more than 200 Mexicans were jailed after growers, guards and workers were beaten in orange orchards.

Reports from El Modena said a strike meeting last night had been broken up by someone who had tossed a tear gas bomb into the crowd. But sheriff's officers had not heard about the incident.

Meanwhile a little army of 400 officers and special deputies, finding a lull in citrus strike violence, waited tensely.

Would there be another "zero hour" like Monday's?

On that day, almost exactly at (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

DEATH CLAIMS TCHITCHERIN

MOSCOW, (AP)—Soviet Russia mourned today the death of George Tchitcherin, 64-year-old former commissar for foreign affairs.

The veteran revolutionist, an early Soviet leader, died yesterday. He retired from public life in 1930 because of ill health.

In the days when Russia was under a strict blockade by the Allied power, Tchitcherin struggled for an end of the embargo and recognition of his country by the rest of the world.

5 Die In British Arsenal Blast

LONDON, (AP)—An explosion in the royal arsenal in Woolwich which killed five persons was announced today by the war office. The cause of the explosion and the extent of the damage was not immediately disclosed.

Don't Be a Softie!

It may be pleasant to let somebody else do the hard work and to employ labor-saving devices to the fullest—but it's not the best thing in the world for your health. Dr. Claud North Chrisman, nationally known M. D. who writes daily for The Journal, explains why it is important from a health standpoint to exercise the large muscles of the body. Sometimes people go soft, and their tendons shrink up with disastrous results warns Dr. Chrisman. Dr. Chrisman's column is just one of the reasons why more and more people are reading The Journal. # FIRST LADY BLASTS RED CHARGES

Inspects Girls' Camp,
Ridicules Legion's
Communist Hints

SUFFERN, N. Y., (P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt laughed today at charges that Camp Jane Addams, formerly Camp TERA, at Bear Mountain "is a hotbed of communism."

Visiting the unemployed girls' camp, which is now operated by the National Youth administration, she found on the bulletin board a clipping quoting the charge, which was made at the Rockland county (N. Y.) American Legion convention, July 2.

The first lady and her daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, who is a member of the camp advisory board, chuckled on looking at the newspaper headlines, "War Veterans Attack Red Camp, at Probe."

Where's the Gate?
"We have been told," said Miss Bernice Miller, who is in charge of the camp, "that we have a tall gate at the entrance so we can't be spied upon. We've never seen it."

"That's lovely," laughed Mrs. Roosevelt. She turned to her daughter and said, "I hope you took a good look at the gate."

After viewing the varied activities of the camp, Mrs. Roosevelt replied to questions regarding the allegation that communism was rampant there.

"No Sign of It"
"The answer to that is what you and I have seen here ourselves," she said. "I have found absolutely no sign of any communist teachings in the camp."

"Of course, I can't tell you just what each girl is thinking. There have always been stories of this kind, not because of the management of the camp, but because you can't put human beings in a mold."

"I find no communism in what they are studying here. My impression is that it is a happy group which is getting its courage back."

MORE ABOUT STRIKE

1:45 p. m., mobs of strike sympathizers rushed into citrus groves, clubbed pickers and guards, and fled. Two guards were badly injured. One Maytag's leg was almost amputated by a blast of buckshot at close range.

Arraign 115 today
What next?
Wheels of the law began grinding, designed to bring to a speedy trial the 200 pickers who today are pacing the floors of jails here and at Fullerton. Most of them are charged with rioting, under which they may be sentenced to two years in jail and a $2000 fine. One hundred and fifteen were to be arraigned in Fullerton this afternoon.

Others face charges of motor vehicle violations, trespassing, assault with deadly weapons, and drunkenness.

Charles McLaughlin, Communist candidate for congress and WPA chorus singer, was on trial today in Fullerton justice court, charged with trespassing and vagrancy, as a result of alleged strike activities.

Doors Locked
A curious crowd milled around the courtroom. Every seat was filled, the doors were locked, and still spectators craned their necks at windows as McLaughlin awaited trial. Getting a jury was difficult. One panel was exhausted, and bailiffs walked up and down the streets, summoning passersby for jury duty.

No violence had been reported since yesterday morning, when a pickers' truck was smashed and burned at La Jolla camp by a gang of strikers.

Armed With Tear Gas
One hundred fifty crews were at work in the county today, Sheriff Logan Jackson said. They were guarded by nearly 400 officers and special deputies. One sheriff's car was equipped with shotguns and tear gas bombs, ready to rush to reports from Ball and Brookhollow roads early today said a pickering crew had been run out of an orchard there. Officers were told later, however, that two men had driven by in a car and warned the pickers to stop working "or we'll get you later."

The Sunny Hills Citrus association reported several American women packers had been threatened on their way to work this morning.

Strikers Gather
At the same time growers and a small group of Mexicans worked seriously toward a solution of the strike, which was intended to stop orange picking but which has resulted only in unemployment of regular workers and employment of others.

Two hundred workers in Gonzales hall here yesterday heard speakers urge them to go back to work, to eliminate outside persons from negotiations, and to "look intelligently" at the situation.

Speakers were Manuel Avila, publisher of El Nuevo Mundo, Mexican newspaper; the Rev. A. B. Escobedo, Orange Methodist minister; Juan Aguilera, Placentia merchant, and Sol Gonzales, Santa Ana merchant.

"Everyone Losing"
The speakers told the group that pickers had been misled by outsiders and Communists. They explained they were in many cases having to refuse credit to strikers, and that "everyone is losing."

They all voiced the sentiment that Mexicans who are not Ameri-

Fuel Blast Destroys Bus

This bus was completely destroyed by fire between San Bernardino and Lake Arrowhead, Calif., but its 23 passengers all escaped unhurt. The spectacular blaze, shown at its height, was caused by the explosion of 160 gallons of fuel from gasoline dripping on a hot exhaust pipe. (Associated Press photo.)

RUNAWAY CANARY HALTED Winged Singer in Gilded Cage

How far will a tame canary fly when it is lost, before getting hungry and hunting for a cage and keeper?

That is the question in the mind of Mrs. Frank Holliday, who has two birds where only one was caged before. This morning she hung the cage containing her yellow songster outdoors, at her home on South Sycamore street.

She thought she was seeing double when, a short while later, she saw one bird outside the cage, and one inside. But the free bird was a tame stranger, attracted by Mrs. Holliday's bird and his "home."

To protect the visitor from her cat, and to take care of it until its owner identifies and claims it, Mrs. Holliday placed it in another cage and fed it.

"Anyone who identifies the bird, which is distinctively marked, may have him," she declared. Her telephone number is 5029-J.

DEATH HEARING POSTPONED

Because Terry Hunt, considered an important witness, is still unconscious in the county hospital two weeks after the accident, preliminary hearing of Edwin Schroeder, charged with felony drunk driving in connection with the crash, was postponed today.

Schroeder is asserted to have been driver of the car which crashed into Hunt's automobile, inflicting a skull fracture and other injuries. Deputy District Attorney C. E. Sprague asked for a continuance this morning in justice court, and Judge Chris P. Pann set the hearing to July 16.

100,000 Seeking Merriam Ouster

LOS ANGELES, (P)—More than 100,000 signatures have been obtained for petitions to recall Gov. Frank Merriam, Secretary Frank O'Brien of a recall committee reported today. Approximately 340,000 signatures will be sought, he said.

can citizens were in no position to demand concessions. They advised the workers themselves to make requests to their employers.

Consul's Representative Lucas Lucio, who has been addressing meetings of strikers, was not present at yesterday's session.

'Reign of Terror'
A mimeographed pamphlet signed "Wilmar-Garvey Epic club" was received by Sheriff Jackson today, demanding removal of police from the strike area, prosecution of packing houses for employing "child labor as strike-breakers," and accusing officers of "a reign of terror," breaking into workers' houses, assault and "framed charges."

"We can take care of this without outside assistance," Jackson replied.

Packing house managers and growers were meeting today in Orange, following a similar meeting attended by 100 persons in Placentia yesterday. Stuart Strathman, growers representative, said a plan to end the strike had been formulated, but declined to reveal what the plan was.

Epic Pamphlet
In Los Angeles the board of supervisors refused to hold an open hearing into alleged "brutal treatment" of strikers in the Whittier area, and suggested that those who alleged mistreatment swear out warrants.

Demands of a citizens committee there were similar to those contained in the Epic pamphlet received here. They asked the board to prohibit child labor in agriculture, hold a hearing into violence charges and forbid the sheriff's office to "terrorize strikers."

The sheriff's office was puzzled today over disposition of 50 or 60 automobiles of strikers who had been arrested. The cars were impounded, but no very satisfactory place has been found to keep them. Part of them were to be moved today to the county road department yard.

Spanish Prince Sues for Divorce

NEW YORK, (P)—The haemophilia-afflicted Count of Covadonga, one-time heir-apparent to the Spanish throne, today filed suit in supreme court for annulment of his marriage to his commoner wife, Edelmira Sampedro.

The action brought to a head repeated rumors of domestic discord since the count renounced his right to the Spanish throne to marry the beautiful Cuban.

Poland Grabbing U. S. Currency

BERLIN, (P)—The United States consulate today issued a warning that United States currency may be confiscated from travelers in Poland.

The consulate said that almost every day some American traveler arrives in Berlin complaining that his currency was confiscated by Polish authorities upon his departure from Poland.

ITALY PLANS TO AVENGE SLAYINGS

ROME, (P)—Italian military airplanes were reported today sent out to make "mass reprisals" against an Ethiopian district in which at least four Italian fliers were slain June 26.

Among those killed was Maj. Antonio Locatelli, famous pilot and a member of the Balboa mass flight to the United States in 1933.

The victims, occupying the three airplanes, had been making an observation flight over the Wallega area. They landed in a district frequented by fierce and hostile tribesmen.

The natives attacked the group, destroyed the planes and killed at least four occupants. A priest, the Rev. Father Barollo, a passenger, escaped and carried the news of the massacre to Addis Ababa.

Other victims included General Magliocco, who commanded the flight; Col. Carlo Calderini, and a mechanic named Prossio.

The official communique telling of the affair did not explain the fate of the others who must have been included in the party. It described the attackers as irregular Ethiopian soldiers.

Arrest Boys In Burglary Case

Burglary of the Rice second hand store in Buena Park was believed solved today, as sheriff's officers held two San Francisco youths said to have been caught with a telescope, rifle, and pistol stolen Monday night.

The youths are Joe Savoca, 15, taken to the juvenile home, and Edward O. Booth, 16, locked in the county jail by Deputy Sheriff John Ryan and R. F. Steinberger after they captured the two at Buena Park last night.

Two other boys are being sought for questioning. Besides the recovered property, the burglars got one more pistol, 100 rounds of ammunition, and three flashlights.

Gore Loses Race In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, (P)—Sen. Thomas P. Gore, Oklahoma's veteran in the U. S. senate, conceded defeat today in his race for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

"The handwriting on the wall is perfectly visible to me," declared the blind statesman as he returned from the semi-final primary showed him trailing in fourth place.

Rep. Josh Lee, staunch New Dealer, swept into one of the two positions for the runoff primary July 28, and Gov. E. W. Marland, also a New Dealer, pulled ahead of Gomer Smith, vice president of the national Townsend plan.

MORE ABOUT DROUGHT

in the stricken sections so farmers may raise fodder for their livestock.

The deaths of at least 42 persons were attributed directly to the heat while 30 others drowned as they sought to escape the sun's burning rays in lakes and rivers.

A reading of 120 degrees was registered yesterday at Wisneek, N. D. All-time highs of 100 and 104 were recorded at Duluth, Minn., and Green Bay, Wis., up in the usually cool resort country. The swelter raised far above the century mark at scores of points but these registrations showed the scope and severity of the siege.

Glendive, Mont., 112; Phoenix, Ariz., 110; Kewanee, Ill., and Devil's Lake, N. D., 108; Evansville, Ind., 106; Eau Claire, Wis., 105; Davenport, Iowa, and Marquette, Mich., 104; Fairbault, Minn., 103; Huron, S. D., 102; Kansas City, Mo., and Mobile, Ala., 100.

Insects Add Havoc
Grasshoppers, beetles and chinch bugs added to the havoc. Several thousand men fought fires in Montana, Wyoming and South Dakota forests.

Concrete pavements cracked at Bloomington, Ill. Section hands loosed rail joints to prevent buckling. Sand was sprinkled on bubbling asphalt streets in suburban Oak Park, Ill. Duluth policemen worked in shirt sleeves for the first time in history. Outdoor construction projects were halted.

Seven heat victims died in Peoria, Ill., hospitals. The Mississippi river receded toward an unprecedented low at Rock Island, Ill. Small grains were bleached white in Wisconsin.

Gov. Walter Welford of North Dakota stated conditions were "becoming worse." Cal Ward, rural resettlement director, returned to Lincoln, Neb., from a 200-mile swing through the Dakotas. He said:

"The morale of the people is much lower. In whole counties it looks as though there won't be a grain of wheat. If these people aren't given help, many will starve."

One-third of the Montana wheat crop was given up for lost. Agricultural agents in three Nebraska counties agreed the corn crop was doomed unless it had rain within the next two weeks.

But President Roosevelt declared no starvation was in prospect. The most recent government estimates, he said, indicated a yield of about 600,000,000 bushels of wheat and a carryover of 150,000,000 against domestic consumption of approximately 625,000,000.

To Wed Ruth

Kemmerjunker, Kaptjan Boerge Rhode, 42, gentleman groom to King Christian of Denmark, is soon to wed Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, 50, U. S. minister to Denmark. Mrs. Owen admitted yesterday. It will be the third marriage for the daughter of The Great Commoner, the late William Jennings Bryan. (Associated Press telephoto.)

MORE ABOUT LABOR FIGHTS

industrial organization, faced these charges:

(1) Banding together with the avowed purpose of pushing the industrial unionization campaigns contrary to the federation's policy, which is to allot many workers to craft unions.

(2) Aiding the radio and electrical workers union, now on strike at the Radio Corporation plant. This union was refused an A. F. of L. charter after the executive council decided all radio workers should join the electrical workers union.

President Green, in a statement last night, recalled that the A. F. of L. was laying plans for a steel campaign when the Lewis committee started one on its own hook.

A. F. L. Chief's Stand
"Instead of making possible the concentration of all the material, moral and economic forces of the organized workers and all their friends behind an irresistible organizing campaign, its (the Lewis faction's) recognized spokesmen denounced the American Federation of Labor, charged it with pursuing a 'dog in the manger' policy and portrayed it as a barrier blocking the efforts of the steel workers to become organized," Green said.

"Now those identified with the committee for industrial organization find that their real enemy is not the American Federation of Labor and its executive council which they so vehemently denounced, but instead their real enemies are the steel corporations and the powerful financial interests associated with them."

Lewis lost little time in firing back:

"There is nothing to prevent the American Federation of Labor from joining wholeheartedly with the committee for industrial organization in the fight to establish the right to organize for collective bargaining in the steel and other major industries."

Costs $6 to Fish Without Trousers

J. A. Brocker's grunion-hunting expedition last night cost him $6. He didn't say whether or not it was worth it.

Running after the elusive fish at Sunset Beach was easier with his trousers removed, Brocker found. He said he left the trousers on the beach. A purse containing $6 was missing when he returned. Sheriff's officers were going to help him look for the money.

FARLEY SOON TO GIVE UP P. O. JOB

WASHINGTON, (P)—James A. Farley today began winding up the affairs of his office as postmaster general preparatory to taking a three-months leave of absence during which he will direct the New Deal election campaign.

President Roosevelt announced late yesterday that Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, would relinquish his cabinet post and pay between August 1 and election day.

There was a difference of opinion today as to whether Farley actually ever would return to the cabinet. Some officials believed he might resign after election day, if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected and return to private life. Others predicted he would not resign.

Howes Gets Job
William A. Howes, South Dakota, first assistant postmaster general and a member of the Democratic national committee, will be in active charge of the department until after the election.

Critics of the administration, and some supporters, for many months have cried out against the fact that Farley, while a member of the cabinet, also has been chairman of the national and New York state Democratic committees.

Whether the question of Farley's posts has been settled to the satisfaction of these critics was not immediately made known.

To Lose $3875 Pay
The President said yesterday that between now and Aug. 1 Farley will finish up work on the annual financial statement of the postoffice department. Farley, whose salary is $15,000 annually, will lose about $3875 in pay during his leave.

Howes, his temporary successor, was assistant to Farley during the 1932 campaign. He was given credit by some Democrats for being an important factor in the election drive which gave Mr. Roosevelt an 80,000 vote plurality in South Dakota four years ago.

Big Democratic Paper Switches Over to Landon

CHICAGO—Republican leaders were more confident than ever today of the success of the Landon-Knox candidacies in the fall ball upon receipt of news that the Omaha World-Herald, a leading Democratic organ in the upper Missouri Valley for more than half a century, had turned its support to Landon.

Word of the newspaper's desertion of the Democratic cause was brought to Republican national headquarters here by Lyle Jackson, Republican state chairman of Nebraska, who reported to National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton on the situation in his state.

B. Wellington, M. F. Enderle, Franklin Grouard, E. T. McFadden, Wilbur Getty, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, Jules W. Markel, Charles D. Von Wyk, Franklin G. West, Otto A.  A report on negotiations between the Orange County Water district and the Tri-County Water Conservation association, regarding use of Santa Ana river water, was scheduled to be made at a meeting of the water district board of directors here this afternoon.

Roy Browning, water district director, and engineer for the Irvine company, was to report on the status of negotiations at this afternoon's meeting. The session was to take place in the board's office in the Medical building.

ROBERT E. CROWLEY

Robert E. Crowley, Santa Ana lawyer, with offices in the Commercial National bank building, is one of the last to file nomination papers as a Democratic candidate for the assembly from the seventy-fourth district.

Crowley came to California from Montana about 10 years ago and resided for a time in Anaheim. He is a native of Massachusetts and worked in the shoe factories there as a young man, and studied law at nights, graduating from an eastern university. He was employed by the attorney general at Washington, D. C., for a time, and later, as a special agent of the government he prosecuted graft, timber and land fraud cases on the Pacific coast. He has practiced law more than 20 years. Crowley advocates cooperation with the federal government in matters affecting wages, working hours and security for old age. He believes legislation is necessary to abolish opportunity for graft in issuing liquor licenses. He claims that, as a candidate for the seventy-fourth assembly district, he is the only Democrat on the Democratic ticket. He is a member of Santa Ana Townsend club No. 3.

REPORTS THEFT; GOES TO JAIL

George F. Salisbury's report to police that he had been robbed of $61 landed him in the county jail last night.

Questioned by police who found him in a walnut orchard near his home, 1310 Lincoln street, Salisbury told a story of traveling from Lancaster to Los Angeles. There, he said, he met a young man, who started to drive him to Santa Ana and bought him beer in a Los Alamitos cafe. He said he remembered nothing more until he regained consciousness at the roadside near La Habra.

When he was taken to the station for further questioning, Salisbury's hard luck kept on working. Officers found there a bench warrant from Santa Ana justice court, and promptly locked him up. He is charged with violation of his parole on a year's suspended sentence for non-support.

SAFeway KEEPS WAGE POLICY

The minimum wage standard maintained in California by Safeway Stores, Inc., will definitely remain a part of the company's future policy toward its employees.

This statement was issued today by H. S. Wright, Safeway district manager for Santa Ana in light of the recent decision by the United States supreme court holding a minimum wage law for women in New York as unconstitutional.

As a result of the high tribunal's ruling there has been expressed in authoritative circles grave concern over the legality of the California minimum wage law for women, said Wright.

Safeway Stores, Inc., which employs many hundreds of women in its California stores, hastened to assure all its workers that the company itself would voluntarily maintain its own minimum wage levels and continue to support its policy of "fair wages to all."

In a recent wage analysis made by the United States bureau of census it was also shown that employees of chain food stores in California are among the highest paid in the industry.

COUNTY BASEBALL

YOUNG GOLFERS

MRS. ANNE O'BRIEN

By BOB GUILD

The National league boys did it yesterday, after three fruitless attempts.

Proving that this is the year for upsets. Three years in a row the senior branch of the big league lost its annual all-star battle, and then when faced with more power than ever before went out and got them. Dizzy Dean, who promises and produces most of the time, also did it again, allowing no hits and no runs for his three innings, which is not so bad.

The baseball picture got sort of hectic here, when the tottering Orange county league ran into a verbal whaling over its conduct.

Spark was the scheduled Huntington Beach-San Juan Capistrano fracas, which never came off. Manager Chet Congdon of the Capistranos seemed to feel that if the league's head men paid more attention to the lowly members of the loop such things wouldn't happen.

Comments have been made before about the lack of balance in the circuit, and the fact that good players seemed to gravitate toward one or two outfits.

Some think a meeting of the powers that be before the county's second half gets under way, July 15, with the promulgation of some rules that will stick and a few trades, might put new life in the old horse. Else, says Chet, "it'll be a two-team league, and what do you think of that?"

Don Kennedy, Santa Ana High school's contribution to California golf, ran into trouble this year, but passed his baton to another Santa Ana lad, lanky Jack Robinson, county club star.

Don posted an auspicious medal round of 75 in defense of his Southern California junior championship, and then fell before an attack of ptomaine which forced him out of the tournament in the semi-finals, where he scored another 75. He tied for low medal, but did not enter the playoff for the medal trophy.

Young Robinson, center on Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana High school team last year, cracked through up at Montebello to win the Southern California C. I. F. championship. He carded a 74 in his final round to beat Rennie Kelley of Beverly Hills, after Kelley had scored an eagle and two birdies on the first three holes.

Who said golf was an old man's game? Or is that something they've stopped saying, anyway?

Mrs. Anne O'Brien, young Huntington Beach housewife, will carry the Orange county torch to Berlin, despite Norman Paul's bad luck in not being notified in time of his eligibility.

Mrs. O'Brien made the team when she whipped her field in the 80-yard hurdles, marking a time of 12 seconds flat, on Brown University field, Providence, R.I.

She will be one of a squad of four American women to carry the U. S. Olympic banner to Berlin.

Her trip east was financed by a group of Huntington Beach business men who banded together under the title "Anne O'Brien Club," each donating $10 toward defraying her expenses.

Weird Baseball Features Coast League Battles

By the Associated Press

Both weird and sparkling baseball featured Coast league games which placed Portland up a notch in the standings today at the expense of the San Francisco Missions.

The Beavers moved into third spot by defeating the San Francisco Seals, 8-4, while the Reds were taking a 9-4 trouncing from Sacramento's Senators. The circuit-leading Oaks took a well-played, 2-0, game from San Diego, while Seattle was edging out Los Angeles, 5-3.

The Oaks were in fine form in every department while beating San Diego. They ran to 21 the number of consecutive innings they have held opponents scoreless, by reason of Ken Douglas' five-hit southpawing.

In the weird San Francisco-Portland game the first six Beavers hit safely for a 5-0 lead, then Bill Posedel had to be derided in the third after pitching hitless ball, winning a 10-round decision before 10,000 fans at the Olympic auditorium.

Lanky Don French then pitched 6-1-3 innings, striking out nine Seals and walking eight. Two of the Seals' three hits scored two earned runs in the ninth. During the game 18 batsmen straggled, two were hit by pitcher, six errors were committed and six double plays completed.

Seattle bearded the Angels in their own enclosure as Kewpie Dick Barrett scored his third successive victory over the losers. The Indians needed the five runs made in the first three innings off Dutch Leiber, for the Seals put on a ninth inning rally that scored two runs. Twenty-seven players saw action.

Dumps Orange, 3 to 1, In Pitchers' Battle; Higgins Homes

Anaheim was off to a flying start in the National Nightball league second half, scoring two runs in the eighth inning of its set-to with Orange last night to break up the ball game.

The deciding runs came after seven innings of dead-end baseball, when Pitcher Roger Larimer of the Orange team weakened. Three singles and an error accounted for the final scoring plunge.

Leavitt Daley led off with a single, was forced at second by Cliff Edmundson. Fred Wiseman singled to send Edmundson around to third, and he scored a moment later on Charley Comstock's single. Hal Higgins was safe on Walt Leichtfuss' error, and Wiseman scored.

Orange started the run-making in the first inning when Memphis Hill singled, went to second on Tom Lacy's sacrifice hit, and came home when Struck singled, after Walt Gunther had walked.

Anaheim came back with one in the next inning, when First Baseman Higgins homed.

String McDonald hurled exceptional ball for the Anaheimers, allowing only three hits. Roger Larimer for the Orange nine was not bad, allowing only six hits and two earned runs.

VARGAS GETS TOP SPOT

Meets Eddie O'Neil of Corona In Highway 101 Headliner

The overnight fistic sensation—Ray (Wildman) Vargas of Atwood, who jumped from an unknown amateur fighter to main events in three fights, tomorrow night launches his front-flight fistic career at the Orange County Athletic club on the "home talent" program sponsored by Promoter Sam Sampson.

Vargas meets Eddie O'Neil, the Corona cyclone, in the four-round main event of an eight-bout bill, and if the Atwood Assassin lives up to his past performance fans are going to witness a rare slug-fest with one of the other of the principals counted out.

Vargas is a terrific puncher in either fist. He scored two knockouts in a row and beat the more experienced Larry Ledford last week. The fact that Ledford kept on the move throughout, scared to death that Vargas would nail him with a key punch, probably saved Larry from suffering the fate of Vargas' two previous foes.

O'Neil has no fear of Vargas, and yesterday, just to prove it, sent word here asking Promoter Sampson if it made any difference to him when he stopped Vargas.

"I got an important club meeting to make after the fight," wrote O'Neil, "so if it doesn't make any difference to you I'll get this guy Vargas out of the way in a hurry and be on my way early."

Chief Leo Lopez and Mayo Soria clash in a flyweight battle in the secondary feature. Badger Diaz, the popular Anaheim flyweight, returns to action in the special, meeting Ray Delagado. Cloned Barry tangles with Paul Sauer; Johnny Chavez vs. Ray Robles; Pete Aguirre vs. Joe Orna; Danny Moreno vs. Manuel Calderon and Midget Reese vs. Ray Palencia completes the card.

GLENN HARDIN

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK. (AP)—Even with a reasonable mark-down on American Olympic prospects, prompted by the possibility of mishaps or the effect of a sea-going layoff, there is every reason to expect the United States to score more heavily in the track events this year than in any international games since 1912.

At Stockton 24 years ago wearers of the red, white and blue swept the flat races from 100 to 800 meters, dominated the hurdles and otherwise figured strongly in foot-racing at all distances. Thereafter Uncle Sam's performers, for one reason or another, began skidding to the point where they were lucky to capture one flat race, at 400 meters, in the 1928 games at Amsterdam. Only Ray Barbuti's headlong finish averted a shutout that year.

Home cooking and familiar surroundings, as well as better talent, stirred a rally at Los Angeles in 1932. But there were many disappointments the memory of which, our experts think, may be wiped out this August if all goes well.

On the basis of starting performances this year, the U. S. A. is better equipped than at any time since 1912 to tackle the world's best—at all foot-racing distances from the sprints to the 10,000 meters.

The amazing Jesse Owens, supported by Ralph Metcalfe, a veteran of the 1932 Olympic wars, should whip all sprint rivals. His recent mark of 10.2 for the 100 meters, a world record, is reassuring.

Stars Galore in 400

There are two other spectacular negroes, Archie Williams and Jimmy LuValle, from the west coast, to support Syracuse's Eddie O'Brien in the 400. Williams has beaten the world record with a 46.1 performance. There's Ben Eastman, another world record-breaker, for the 800. With England's 1932 champion, Tom Hampson, out of competition, Eastman will be the Olympic favorite.

America has at least a fighting chance in the classic 1500, if Gene Venke or Glenn Cunningham can reproduce some of their great races. Indiana's Don Lash, by shattering Paavo Nurmi's world two-mile record, projected himself into the battle for distance honors, hitherto monopolized by Finland.

Britain and her far-flung empire, from all advance indications, will furnish the main opposition for America in the middle distances. This includes the 400, 800 and 1500 meters. The Olympic champion, Italy's Luigi Beccali, will be back for the "metric mile," but it's significant that Jack Lovelock, the world's most accomplished miler (in the opinion of most American observers), has decided to train for the 5000 meters instead of risking all his chance for Olympic victory in another duel with Stanley Wooderson, newest British ace. Wooderson has beaten Lovelock twice so convincingly that he looms as the man for them all to beat in the 1500.

Distances Debatable

Finland's distance runners will be challenged not only by Lash, but also by Juan Carlos Zabala, the Argentine who won the 1932 marathon, and a group of Japanese. Zabala will bid for 10,000-meter honors, besides trying to repeat in the marathon. Lehtinen and Iso-Hollo, 1932 winners in the 5000 and steeplechase, head the strong Finnish array.

Unless the games unfold some surprises, America's only real opposition in the hurdles will come from England's Don Finlay, an accomplished performer over the high sticks. The frequently two-mile record-holder, Forrest Towns of Georgia and his California rivals have been knocking over world records has increased U. S. confidence, but it is well to remember that accidents can upset any and all calculations in this specialty.

Glenn Hardin's return to form, for the 400-meter low hurdles, fortifies the Yanks in this event, won four years ago by Ireland's Bob Tisdall. The Louisiana star likely will have strong support.

For the steeplechase we have the veteran Joe McCluskey, a point-winner in 1932. Nevertheless, the Finns seem to have control of the steeplechase situation, judging from European reports.

FINANCIAL FLOP ECHOES

Rookie Joe Goat of Upset

By ALAN GOULD

BOSTON. (AP)—Echoes of the biggest financial freshman flops in the four-year history of the all-star game failed today to deprive National leaguers of their jubilation over turning back the Americans for the first time.

Paced by the great Dizzy Dean and Carl Hubbell, then plucked from danger by the strong right arm of Lonnie Warneke, the Nationals capitalized their superior pitching to squeeze a 4-to-3 decision under extraordinary circumstances before a crowd that occupied little more than half of the stands at National League field.

Led by Manager Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs, the Nationals won because they forced "breaks," capitalized opportunities and on the whole played smarter baseball. They had their share of luck, but they were primed to win.

The favored Americans lost because their celebrated "murderers' row" was handcuffed by rival pitchers for eight of nine innings, and, sad to relate, because their sensational rookie outfielder, Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees, picked the occasion to experience his worst one-day slump since he flashed across the star-clustered big league sky.

Los Angeles claims Mrs. O'Brien is representing the metropolitan city. Huntington Beach says not.

The Albacore Are Coming; Lyin Scotsman Says So

By LYIN' SCOTSMAN, Jr.

The first albacore of the season came in last Friday, caught by trolling boats about 10 miles south of the harbor entrance. These first fish were caught by commercial fishermen, but it shouldn't be long before the sports start hauling them in.

Darrell King will probably have some of his boats fish live bait for them if they come in thick enough. The way they work it is to let about as many fishermen as can troll for an hour or so, then switch off and let some of the others troll, using feather and bone jigs. When they hit the school of fish they start chumming with live bait, fish live bait after that.

Sometimes they only happen to get the ones that hit the jigs and won't bite on live bait; at other times if you're lucky they'll give you plenty of excitement. It's the same old gamble you take every time you go. If the fish bite you get them; if they don't, you don't.

Trolling boats now take the front page as far as the albacore go, because that is one brand of fishing in which they are supreme.

By ALAN GOULD

Rookie Joe, a national baseball hero in his first major league season, came to Boston to get the "Bronx cheer" for the first time in his life. Whether suffering from the jitters or just not having "much luck," as he ruefully expressed it, DiMaggio flopped with as resounding a note as the attendant.

The California recruit had three chances in the field and missed two of them. Charitable scorers charged him with only one error, but his misplays figured in each of the National leaguers' scoring rallies.

Up five times, against the superb pitching of Dean, Hubbell and Warneke, DiMaggio failed to get the ball out of the infield even once.

He left seven men on bases, capping the climax of his dismal day by lining out with the bases full in the seventh, to end the one scoring spurge of the Americans, and popping out in the ninth with the tying run on second base.

"The breaks were simply against the kid," said the American leaguers. "His line drive to Derringer was also playing a big part in the Red campaign. So is the work of second-year man Alec Kampouris at second, and the development of Gilly Campbell as able assistant to Ernie Lombardi behind the plate."

There is also the fine work of comebackers Kiki Cuyler, batting .322, and Babe Herman, although they will have to be replaced before many more campaigns, they will do for the time being.

In the Senators' dugout, even though Buddy Myer, the 1935 league batting king, has been ailing, the stockwork of Lewis, Hill, Joe Kuhel and Ralph Kress, all well over the 300 mark, and the advantageous substitution of Ben Chapman for Jake Powell, is taking care of the attack.

In the pitching office, the trade with the Yanks for Deshong turned out to be a No. 1 break. His work, along with that of Buck Newsom, is making the Senators hard to get by in the league.

Members of the "Anne O'Brien club," beach business men who financed the young housewife's trip to the Eastern Olympic trials, wants some publicity to the effect that a "Huntington Beach girl has made good."

None of this "Los Angeles girl makes good" stuff, say they. After all, they claim, each of the club's 15 members donated $15 to send the local woman to the trials.

O'Brien is an oil operator. He went to work again this morning, unimpaired of the open warfare that soon may burst between rival chambers of commerce over the mother of his 3-year-old daughter.

REDS, SOLONS TEAMS TO WATCH

Builder-Uppers Coming Through In Major Pennant Race

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK. (AP)—If you haven't picked your pennant selections for, say, 1936 or 1937, the current No. 1 builder-uppers of the big leagues—the Washington Senators and Cincinnati Reds—may bear some looking over.

They continue to show the improvement which has made them the standout surprise of 1935, and have a fine chance of finishing up there in a couple of years.

Undoubtedly, if that "kid" bunch in Cincinnati continues its huge forward strides of the last two seasons, with vital spots at first base, shortstop and the pitchers' box now plugged up satisfactorily, it will be increasingly tough to overlook next year and even tougher in 1938.

On Upgrade

By the same token, the Senators, with such comparatively recent improvements as Buddy Lewis, Ben Chapman and Jesse Hill, the grand comeback of Ossie Bluege, and the far better pitching from Yankee castoff Jimmy Deonng and Buck Newsom, are definitely on the upgrade.

For the last two years, these two combinations have been moving up. In 1934, the Reds, as was their custom in those days, were deep in the National league cellar. The Nats were only one run above the bottom in the American. Last year both wound up in sixth place. Now they are tearing up the 1936 pennant chases wide open with first division berths.

With the Reds, the main work ended in the finding of Rookie Les Scarcella to replace the aging Jim Bottomley at first. This newcomer, less heralded than most other of the big-time, although they were called from Toronto at a moment's notice, and now is batting at a .315 pace.

Pitching Improves

Billy Myers at shortstop is hitting .311, compared to his .267 for 1935. Cal Chapman is doing .319. The form reversals for the better of Pitchers Al Hollingsworth and Don Brennan, and the continued top-flight hurling of Paul Derringer also are playing a big part in the Red campaign. So is the work of second-year man Alec Kampouris at second, and the development of Gilly Campbell as able assistant to Ernie Lombardi behind the plate.

There are also the fine work of comebackers Kiki Cuyler, batting .322, and Babe Herman, although they will have to be replaced before many more campaigns, they will do for the time being.

In the Senators' dugout, even though Buddy Myer, the 1935 league batting king, has been ailing, the stockwork of Lewis, Hill, Joe Kuhel and Ralph Kress, all well over the 300 mark, and the advantageous substitution of Ben Chapman for Jake Powell, is taking care of the attack.

In the pitching office, the trade with the Yanks for Deshong turned out to be a No. 1 break. His work, along with that of Buck Newsom, is making the Senators hard to get by in the league.

GIRLS LEAGUE UNDER WAY

Nightball's cuties square off tonight in the second half of their race for softball honors, with the league's two leading outfits tangle in the second half of a double-header.

The Tiernan Typists, first half winners of the girls' title, met the Green Cat Cafe nine at 9 o'clock in Municipal bowl, in what probably will be the most important game of the second half race.

The Tiernan troupe lost no games during the first half, although they ran up one tie score with the Green Cat girls. They will be out tonight to do themselves proud.

In the first scheduled game, at 7:30 p.m., the Smith Coronas meet the Southern California Telephone company in another match that should produce dynamite. The teams ended in a deadlock for last place, or third place, however you want to put it, in the first half.

The Tiernan team, coached by Bono Koral and Jimmy Corbett of Santa Ana's stars, are favorite to walk away with the second half.

Surf fishermen have had rather good luck the past week in the waters adjacent to Newport-Balboa. Yellowfin croaker mostly, with a few corbina and halibut. Yes, I said halibut. They bite on salted anchovies.

Barge fishing has been kind of slow. Halibut, mackerel, sand dab, tom cod and an occasional barracuda right now.

U. S. OLYMPIC FUND GAINS

War Chest Filling as Sailing Date Near; Track Goes Big

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Olympic financial market turned bullish today as the drive for funds, inspired by Sunday's announcement that $150,000 more was needed to send a full American team to Berlin, got under way.

A difference of opinion as to the cause of the shortage turned up as Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former A. A. U. president and leader of the Olympic "boycott" movement, said it was caused by the strong sentiment against American participation in "such Nazi propaganda as these games are."

Gustavus T. Kirby, treasurer of the American Olympic committee, promptly denied the statement and said:

"We have approximately the same number of contributors to the Olympic fund as we have always had in the past. The big difference is that the are not giving as much. Men who used to hand over $500 now have come through with only $50."

There were indications of a sell-out, bringing in $47,000, for the final men's track and field tryouts at the Randall's island stadium Saturday and Sunday.

The University of Washington crew, which won the Olympic berth Sunday, received word from Seattle that the $4,000 needed to finance its trip had been subscribed by Seattle citizens.

Averil Brundage, A. O. C. chairman, pointed out that the track tryouts should provide a surplus as expenses will be only $1,200. About $25,000 was expected from special committees in various sections.

Bill Bingham, the track committee chairman, said a prominent athletic club had promised $3,000 for the track and field team, but he would not name the club for fear some other committee chairman might beat him to the money.

Pictures Stars Square Off in Annual Game

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Anything goes, and most everything will, when Hollywood's male picture stars stage their annual benefit baseball game at Wrigley field July 18.

Billed as a mighty struggle between the "leading men" and the "comedians," it will be hard to tell which team is which with lineups that are slated to include Joe E. Brown, Jack Benny, Jack Oakie, Clark Gable (maybe), Ricardo Cortez, Eddie Cantor, the four Marx brothers (all playing second), Edward Arnold, Lew Ayres, Dick Powell and Buster Keaton.

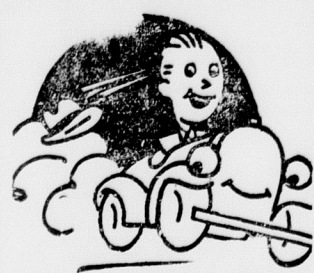

Last year the game was a near-nightmare, the result was never determined, and two veteran umpires threatened to retire from the sport forever.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By L. N. (BRICK) GAINES

GOODNESS me, it's nice and cool at Newport and Balboa these days!

That remark, dropped in the office after a visit to the harbor yesterday afternoon, almost caused a war. The rest of the staff stayed at home and worked.

And it really was cool—comfortably cool—at the beach. Of course, no one was wearing a fur coat, and most everyone was in the water, but even then, it was at least a dozen degrees cooler than inland. Which was quite a relief.

And Harry Welch and his C. of C. didn't pay me to write that, either, so help me!

In addition to the weather, folks give a person a royal welcome down there. For instance, there was the aforementioned Welch. He immediately dropped his work, put his feet on the desk and started in talking. Friendly like.

And then there was the genial harbor master, Tommy Bouchey, and his office staff. Tommy was even good natured when we waited until he was talking on the telephone and unable to defend himself and then stole all his candy.

And then, to top off the welcome, Tommy's assistant shipper offered a ride in the harbor patrol boat. When that was over, I was almost shivering!

I also dropped in to see Fire Chief Frank Crocker and hint about a cigar, or something, because I was reliably informed that a little fellow, a boy, had arrived at Frank's home, but he was out. I'll be back again, however.

And then, to top off the tour, I called on Publisher Sam Meyer, who was working. Even with his regular weekly worries on his chest, Sam was agreeable. Although he finally did give me some cigarettes if I'd go away.

I hope no one takes that as a hint and pesters Sam for smokes after that one. I might not get any more. For any prospective hunters, however, I might add that he keeps three brands of cigarettes in his desk!

Almost had the editorial nose punched yesterday, just for wandering around the county, while strikers were also doing a bit of vagabonding on their own.

Huge crowds on Placentia avenue, east of Anaheim. Lots and lots of alleged and purported strikers, and hordes of policemen, large and small. Everyone was aggressive, but the law got there last, and so was the most aggressive. Great display of pickhandles, billy clubs and other persuading implements, but no heads were offered to crack.

The greatest sufferer in the clash seemed to be one state traffic officer, who was complaining loudly of the heat. He'd already dropped below 200 pounds, he protested, and it'd take considerable eating to regain his lost poundage.

The arrested Mexicans seemed more bewildered than anything else. Huge quantities of implements which could be converted into weapons were removed from cars by searching police. Garden hose, conveniently filled with some heavier substance, like lead, for instance. Very handy. Jack had a pocket knife, by the dozen. Lengths of wood, which looked to my inexperienced eye, very much like clubs.

Of course, nobody knew who owned the asserted weapons. They were just there.

And, when nearly 100 boarders had been gathered in, the law started off in a long caravan for Santa Ana.

Looks like the boys decided to stop playing hide-and-seek and get around to the game of cops'n robbers, for awhile, with the county jail as the home base!

Fullerton police were actively mixed up in one engagement on East Chapman avenue. Sergeant John Gregory, C. O. Wheat and Roy Mills corralled a bevy of alleged head-busters, with Officer Jake Deist moaning afterwards because he was off duty and didn't have a chance to get in on the fun!

Things really look like the old wild and woolly western days in the citrus growing communities. Men walk into grocery stores with huge cannon-like guns strapped to waists. Rifles are carried conspicuously. This rancher runs his tractor with one hand and keeps the other on his six-shooter, while that'n has a shotgun hidden nearby. Whole families appear armed when pickers arrive to remove the year's supply of oranges.

Lotsa fun, if you can keep your nose from being punched!

NEW LIGHT TO BE INSTALLED ON EAST JETTY AT HARBOR

WORK STARTS TODAY ON PROJECT

Lighthouse Service To Build Tower; Many Flashers Placed

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Installation of a new tower light on the east jetty at the harbor entrance was started here today by the United States lighthouse service, marking the last step in completion of the huge $2,000,000 harbor development program.

A cement base had been prepared for a 40-foot tower to handle the new entrance light, and the lighthouse tender was expected in the harbor today to start actual installation work, Harbor Master T. E. Bouchey said.

Light Will Flash
A 300-millimeter, 360-lens lantern, fitted with a one cubic foot burner and a red shade will be installed as soon as the tower erection is completed, the harbor master said today. A flashing red light of one second duration with light of one second duration will be shown every four seconds by the new 70 candle-power light, he added.

A similar light, on a 50-foot tower, was installed on the west jetty about six months ago when the breakwater had been lengthened in harbor development work, and the latest light closely follows completion of rock work on the eastern jetty.

The new light will be an invaluable aid to navigators and is an important addition to many new lights installed recently by lighthouse service workers.

Install Five in Bay
Added to navigation lights inside the harbor within the past month were one green electric flasher light, installed at the north end of Bay Island; one white flasher light at the west end of Collins Island; one red flasher light at the east end of Lido Isle, and one red flasher light opposite Eighteenth street on Lido Isle. The lights were added to navigational aids in the harbor following application of Harbor Master Bouchey for their installation. He has now applied to the lighthouse service for range lights, such as have been installed in San Diego harbor, as a further aid to operators of boats, Bouchey said today.

Moths Bother Frank Cuprien But He's Still Dean of Laguna Colony

(Who isn't interested in residents of the famed Laguna Beach workshop? Known throughout the world as a playground and workshop for the artist, the potter and sculptor, occupants of the seaside village will be introduced from time to time in The Journal. Today Frank Cuprien and his work at Laguna are described.)

By MRS. L. B. SMALEY

The sign under the doorbell said "Ring gently."

It was at the Viking studio, up in Bluebird canyon in Laguna Beach, where Artist Frank Cuprien has lived since 1913. In addition to the printed advice below the bell, a slate told us "write message, but that was unnecessary, for after the bell had tinkled "gently" a large, fine-looking man made his appearance.

He seemed to have walked out of a Rembrandt painting. His golden brown whiskers, his blue eyes and blue smock, topped off with a green beret, furnished a color harmony with the marine scene over the bluff.

We believed what he said about being of Norman French descent, but his additional statement that he was born in Brooklyn 65 years ago was hard to believe. He proudly displayed his garden, where rare orange-colored geraniums added considerably to the color scheme. The only strange note in the garden was a clothesline filled with woolen trousers and sweaters. In his garden, the dean of the Laguna art colony explained, but he had found a remedy for their depredations. Merely lay the garments flat in a cedar chest, he explained, proudly.

Upon the remark that such experiments were a wife's job, he apologized for not even having a wife.

Frank Cuprien is in "Who's

LAGUNA BEACH.—Advent of the annual Festival of Arts, to be staged this year on a more elaborate scale than ever before, was heralded in a proclamation issued today by Mayor L. F. Mallow, who also holds the office of president of the Festival of Arts association. The proclamation follows:

"Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Friends and fellow citizens, lend me your ears!

"I, L. F. Mallow, mayor of Laguna Beach, do hereby proclaim to the world that the last three days of July and the first three days of August, are a time of good cheer and merrymaking in our beautiful city by the side of the sea.

"I suggest that all ye tired business men, and the wives made weary by ye tired business men, and your offspring, and lads and lassies of the village, while not neglecting duties of the day, take time off to attend the annual Festival of Arts, which opens on July 29 and closes the evening of August 3."

"Forget work and worry for a time, enjoy the splendid entertainment offered, applaud the singers, dancers and musicians, see the beautiful works of art, marvel at the pageant of the masters, wherein will be produced in living flesh noted paintings of artists whose names have been inscribed in the halls of fame down through the ages; mingle with visitors from the far-flung countryside and show them that stories of Laguna's friendliness and hospitality are something more than a myth.

"For this brief period, at least, be gay and light of heart. Seek and find pleasure in the street known as El Paseo. Both afternoon and evening delightful entertainment will be found. As president of the Festival of Arts association, and as mayor of Laguna Beach, I command that ye be present in person."

His face became more thoughtful. Louise's arm tightened upon his.

"What he did that day—the decision he came to—has made not only France, but Europe, what it is," he said almost reverently. "His father would have given him twenty millions, the wealth of empires, for the contents of his mallet's trousers. He could have become the most famous figure in history. He could have had the crazy populace of France at his feet, and all the time he could have satisfied what the Anglo-Saxons are too ready to call their sense of honor. My dear it was a miracle. He saw the truth."

"Please go on, Armand," she begged. "It is almost the first time you have ever talked like this."

"I have felt too much," he admitted. "I have felt that what came of his action was too wonderful, that I might wake one morning and find it a house of cards and the earth quaking again beneath our feet. What he did will live as a great deed, as France will live. Look at everyone. There

Radio's most delightful voice, in the estimation of many music critics, that of Virginia Rea, will be heard in "Musical Moments" with Rubinoff and his violin at 7 o'clock tonight on KVOE singing the appropriate song by Chamblaine, "Summer."

For his violin solo, Rubinoff has selected a folk song called "Rumanian Fantasy," and this famous violinist and orchestra maestro will direct his 32-piece group in "Robins and Roses" and the summer melody, "Me and the Sun."

"Musical Moments" are scheduled every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same hour. "Dancing with Radio" titles this evening's "You and Your Radio" broadcast to be made at 5:30. It will describe the various kinds of dances throughout the world, from Catalina to Coney Island and from South Africa to China, with historical briefs telling of the beginning of some types of dances in foreign countries as far back as the Middle Ages. The "You and Your Radio" broadcasts are made in co-operation with the Radio Institute of Audible Arts to increase the appreciation of all varieties of the best in radio broadcasts to be found on long and short waves and are scheduled every Wednesday from KVOE at the same hour.

This evening's "programette" by Della Hamilton and Erma Baxter from 6:15 to 6:30 lists four contrasting piano melodies, songs and song-combinations. Opening with the hit "Lost," they will offer "Out of the Dusk to You" by Dorothy Lee as sung by Erma; the piano selection "Valse" by Borowski, and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

The rhythm and melody of "Fats" Walter and his orchestra will comprise tonight's popular feature program at 6:45. The numbers, all of which are requested frequently, will include "The Panic Is On," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Sugar Rose" and "Somebody Stole My Gal."

DIRECT RELIEF THROUGH SRA BRANDED INEFFICIENT, WASTEFUL

SUPERVISORS HEAD MAKES CHARGES

Board Selects Jerome to Attend Confab on Problem

Administration of direct relief through SRA was branded as "inefficient, wasteful, and extravagant" in a communication received by the Orange county board of supervisors yesterday from C. E. Grier of Upland, acting president of the California Supervisors association.

The local board appointed W. C. Jerome, supervisor from Santa Ana, to attend a conference at Sacramento called by Grier for July 24 to discuss relief administration and other subjects which supervisors will place before the state legislature in January.

Scores Combination
Grier also scored plans to combine county welfare departments with SRA, declaring:

"The supervisors of the state stand ready to assist Governor Merriam... but we are unwilling to enter into any plan of integration with an organization which should have been disbanded six months ago, and which plans by integration to control the county welfare departments and get their hands on the local taxpayers' pockets."

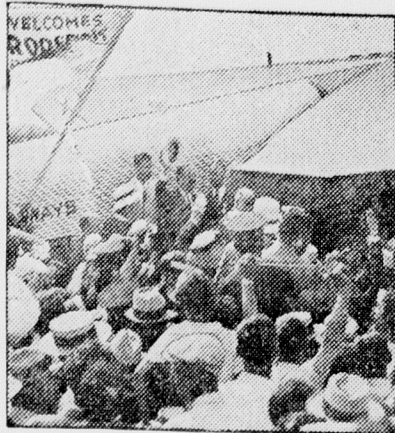

"The administration of direct relief by SRA has cost almost 25 per cent of funds appropriated for administrative expenses of those who are trying to make their jobs permanent by a plan of integration with county welfare departments," Grier charged. "This plan is a scheme to force local taxes on the common people of the state in lieu of federal funds which have been withdrawn."

Explains Creation
"SRA was created by the legislature as the commission responsible for the expending of state and federal unemployment relief funds and it was agreed by the state administration that all appointments to this commission and the state relief administrator should be approved by the federal relief administrator. This agreement has been carried out by Governor Merriam."

"More than six months ago the federal administrator announced that the administration of direct relief from Washington was a failure and that there would be no further funds for this purpose. The announcement further informed us that it was the opinion of the federal relief administrator that the direct relief problem should be handled by the local governmental authorities."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT: From Hyde Park to the White House

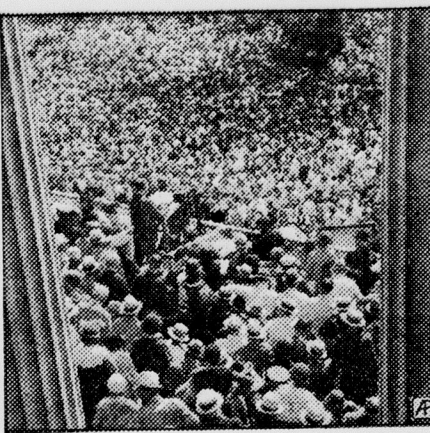

Roosevelt entered the '32 Democratic convention, lacking only 105 votes of the two-thirds necessary to nominate. When, in Albany, he was informed he had been nominated on the fourth ballot, he put himself even more in the limelight by flying to Chicago, the convention city, to accept the presidential nomination.

After a tumultuous welcome at the airport, the nominee drove through lanes of cheering spectators to the convention hall. Always before, the nominee had been apprised late in the summer. Referring to this precedent-breaking move in accepting the spot, Roosevelt said: "Let this method be symbolic of the task of our party to smash foolish traditions."

Roosevelt's nomination won his friend, politically sagacious James A. Farley of New York, the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. It was "Big Jim" who had conducted the pre-convention campaign. His guess on outcome of the election was "43 states for Roosevelt." Actually there were 42, with a plurality of more than 7,000,000 votes over those cast for Herbert Hoover.

Against the advice of some of his closest associates, the nominee made two tours of the country, speaking in almost every section. He pledged a "new deal" to "the forgotten man," economy in government, federal aid to the unemployed, and called for immediate repeal of prohibition. Progressive Republicans were invited to follow his banner.

In Miami in February, 1933, Roosevelt was fired upon by a fanatic. The bullet missed, the nominee waved to assure thousands he was unhurt. His companion, Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, was fatally wounded.

BOARD TO ASK INSURANCE OFFERS

West Motion Unseparated But One By Smith Is Successful

It took the board of supervisors, a full half hour yesterday to decide whether to use one inclusive motion or two separate motions in issuing a call for insurance bids and asking Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, to draw up specifications.

In the tangle it was evident that Supervisor N. E. West of Laguna has not forgotten the battle of two weeks ago over the "resignation" of Slabaugh.

"There's no policy; we change the arrangements every time," complained West.

He moved to issue an advertisement for bids on public liability insurance for county autos, on specifications to be drawn by Dr. Slabaugh, but to be opened by the board of supervisors. There was no second.

Then supervisors, who apparently had not understood West's motion, adopted a motion of Supervisor Willard Smith to have Dr. Slabaugh draw specifications to be presented to the board next week. At that time, they indicated, they will authorize advertising for bids.

VOTERS TOLD THEY MUST REGISTER

Only seven days after today remain in which to register for the Aug. 25 primary election, Santa Ana voters were warned today. Persons who have not registered by July 16 will not be eligible to vote.

The election will not only determine the party nominees for state senate and assembly and the national congress, but will also choose county supervisors here. Should any supervisory candidate receive a majority of all votes cast in his district, he will be elected to office; otherwise the two highest candidates will run off at the November general election.

Any person who was not registered for the May primary, who has moved since, or who wishes to change party affiliation must register not later than July 16.

Transmission of Orange Tree Disease Explained

Scaly bark disease of orange trees, known technically as citrus psoriasis, is transmitted from tree to tree by buds taken from a diseased tree and grafted to a nursery seedling. Dr. H. S. Fawcett, pathologist of the University of California experiment station, recently told nurserymen.

He said scaly bark can be nearly eliminated in the future if strict selection of buds is made from immune trees. He urged nurserymen to anticipate a demand for immune trees and prepare for it.

Among those attending the conference were Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, Santa Ana; Jay Brooks and Fred May, Santa Ana; R. Haster, Garden Grove; H. J. Lippert, Tustin; D. L. Marshall, Orange; Howard Jackson and H. A. Randall, La Habra.

Sharps and Flats From Political Band-Wagon

WOMAN PLEDGES NO

BIG WORDS IN CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK. (AP)—If Mary W. "Molly" Dawson has her way, short, simple words are going to be used in the Democratic party's campaign for President Roosevelt's re-election—and there won't be much "silver-tongued oratory."

Miss Dawson, head of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, praised the short word in outlining her campaign plans.

"We are not going to use any great big words that have to be defined," she said. "We are going to come down to brass tacks, with no exaggerations, and no vague generalities, which personally I cannot tolerate."

Poultrymen Told To Cull Flocks

Poultrymen should be careful about adding to their flocks and in so doing should consider culling their flocks despite increased sales of baby chicks and other favorable trends in the poultry industry, according to a bulletin issued by the college of agriculture of the University of California.

Copies of the bulletin are available at the farm advisor's office here. It shows that baby chick sales in California for the first quarter of 1936 closely approached those of the record years 1929 and 1930. Egg production was 12 to 20 per cent greater for the first four months of 1936 than for the same period last year. Storage holdings of eggs throughout the country were at an all-time low May 1, but have risen appreciably since.

Poultry Meet in San Diego July 11

Whether poultrymen should ask to have a grade of "specials" listed on the Los Angeles produce exchange will be one of the subjects discussed at the quarterly meeting of the regional poultry department of the state farm bureau, to be held at San Diego Saturday, July 11, it was announced today.

There will also be a report of the legislative committee. Committee members representing Orange county are A. H. Heinemann, Orange; A. L. Wolfert, Anaheim; A. F. Schroeder, Orange; A. S. Walker, Yorba Linda; O. L. Cramer, Anaheim; E. F. Zimmer, Anaheim; and Frank Jones, Tustin.

Two Emergencies in County Now; One Three Years Old

County supervisors had two official "emergencies" on their hands yesterday afternoon when they declared the current rioting in connection with the strike an emergency in order to allow extra expenditures by Sheriff Logan Jackson.

The other emergency is the earthquake of March, 1933! Chairman John Mitchell told the board it had declared an emergency at the time of the quake and had never called it off.

"If we declare another, we'll have two emergencies," he chuckled. "I think two is rather superfluous," commented Supervisor N. E. West.

It was District Attorney W. F. Menton's opinion, however, that the earthquake emergency expired with the actual need, regardless of supervisory action or inaction, so the board officially declared a new one to exist. It was on motion of Supervisor Willard Smith, seconded by Supervisor W. C. Jerome, West voted "No."

On Guard Against Peach Disease

With Orange county Farm Advisor William Corey and his assistants alert to possible manifestations of "Peach Mosaic," no manifestations have as yet been found in this county of the new disease which has invaded two or three of California's peach-growing districts.

Of a virulent, easily-transmitted nature, the disease resembles evidence of delayed foliage of peach trees, believed to be caused by a warm winter climate. As in the case of delayed foliage, the diseased tree shows evidence of recovery late in the season.

Leaves of trees affected by the Mosaic disease are disfigured, forming mosaic-like patterns. Growers are warned not to mistake simple delayed foliage for the disease.

Bible Recitals Begin Tonight

Recent archaeological discoveries authenticating Bible stories, will be shown in pictures by Dr. Henry Hampton Halley, lecturer and noted scholar, in his series of Scripture recitals, beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the First Christian church.

Dr. Halley uses the pictures to illustrate his talks, based directly upon books of the Bible. He will give one lecture each evening, concluding the series July 19.

A lecturer on Scripture for the past 14 years, Dr. Halley has won acclaim in churches and the press in all parts of the country. His appearance locally will be made under auspices of the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

HIGH SCHOOL POOL LURES CROWDS

Hot summer days are attracting an average of 200 boys and girls daily to the Santa Ana High school swimming pool, Norman Paul, in charge of the pool's summer season, reported today.

About 60 per cent of the swimmers are boys, and ages range from 4 to 18, with 13 years the average age. A number of adults also are swimming, but largely in the evening, Paul said.

The pool is open from 10 a. m. to 12 M., 1 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. daily, except Sundays and holidays. It is closed Saturday evenings. A charge of 10 cents per swimmer includes locker room, towel, shower and checking of valuables.

Playgrounds are operating daily with men and women instructors at Fremont, Logan, Delhi, Lowell, Willard, Lincoln, Franklin and Lathrop schools and the city bowl. Closed Saturdays and Sundays, the fields are open from 9:30 a. m. to 12 m. and from 1 to 4 p. m. other days.

No Further Cut For WPA Here

No additional reduction of the Works Progress administration employment list here has been ordered, despite the fact that in Los Angeles county a slash of 2000 workers has been required. Dan Mulherron, WPA manager, said today no further reduction has been ordered here.

The WPA throughout the country has been following a scheduled reduction of case loads. The Orange county WPA is keeping its reduction ahead of its quota, Mulherron said. There are now 2014 persons working on locally sponsored projects and 222 on federal projects in the county.

Men dropped from the WPA list have found private jobs.

Cancel Taxes on Cotton Land Gift

Back taxes amounting to $690 on a piece of land donated by H. H. Cotton to the city of San Clemente for a storm drain were cancelled by the county board of supervisors Tuesday at the request of B. Z. McKinney, attorney.

The taxes had been assessed prior to 1934, when Cotton deeded the land to the city. No taxes have been levied since that time.

Heirs Ask Change In Probst Estate

Heirs of the late Ida E. Probst, who died here June 14, yesterday petitioned the superior court to terminate her interest in property here and at Mountain View Park in which she held a life interest.

A son, Ralph Montgomery, asked to be appointed administrator of her estate. Others interested in the property were Rollie and Ralph Montgomery and Louise and Margaret Scharf.

Local History Told in Verse

(Believing that new interest will attach to early events in Orange county history through their presentation in verse, The Journal is publishing a series of poems by Robert Gardner of Orange, telling of these incidents.—Editor.)

THAT STRANGE RUSSIAN

Who was that strange Russian That called himself Just "William Williams"?

The story passed around, While he was living in his wild retreat, Near Anaheim.

That he was out to kill the mighty Tzar, The neighbors called the man a Nihilist; They were afraid of him.

He used to pack his honey to the town, And sell it to his countryman, called Gray.

Yes, it was he who showed Modjeska where To build her stately home above the fog, Of human tragedy and misery. One day the Russian disappeared.

Four Hundred of the Younger Set Will Dance Tonight at Huntington Beach

De Molays Will Be Hosts

Four Chapters Join To Start Annual Tradition

Launching what they hope to make an annual tradition, the four De Molay chapters of the county are joining this evening as hosts to 400 De Molay members and ladies at a semi-formal dance down at the Huntington Beach auditorium.

Shelley Horton heads the committee of Santa Ana members which has cooperated with groups from each of the other three chapters in arrangements for the affair; and Maurice Lyman, local master counselor, will assist the three other chief officers of the county in receiving and entertaining the guests.

Francis Davis is assisting Mr. Horton and Mr. Lyman on the Santa Ana section of the committee. Others composing the general committee are: Kenny Baker, master counselor, and Bob Grove, Huntington Beach; Jay McAuley, master counselor, and Bob Read, Fullerton; and Albert Criss, master counselor, and Bill Chapman, Anaheim.

The host groups are the Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, and Santa Ana chapters.

Dancing to the music of a splendid orchestra will start at 8:30 o'clock and punch is to be served throughout the evening by a committee designated to this duty.

This is the first county-wide dancing event yet attempted by the De Molay groups and plans now are to repeat it as the summer climax on the social calendar each year.

Decorations for this evening's affair will strike a holiday note inspired by the gaieties of the vacation weeks just starting.

VOTERS LEAGUE MEMBERS AT INSTITUTE

Santa Ana's League of Women Voters has been well represented during the past two weeks at the sessions of the Institute of International Relations at Whittier, members attending some or all of the meetings and the accompanying lectures.

Monday evening, some of the group heard Miss Dorothy Detzer, executive secretary of the American League Against War and Fascism, who, it is said, wrote the resolution presented to congress by Senator Gerald P. Nye, which resulted in the recent munitions investigation, and for which the latter received the Cardinal Newman award.

At the close of her talk, Miss Detzer made an announcement of Senator Nye's scheduled address this Friday night at the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles, which several of the league members are planning to attend.

Among those going to Whittier and Los Angeles for the interesting meetings have been Mrs. M. E. Geeting, president of the league; Miss Dorothy Wents, chairman of international relations for the league; Mrs. Golden Weston, chairman of government and education; Miss Ora Heine, chairman of government and its operations; and the Rev. Julia Budlong, chairman of economic welfare.

Golfers To Dine On Steak

"Annual Spanish Bar-B-Cue." That's what they call it out at the Santa Ana Country club where preparations are already underway for the second of these gala events, scheduled this year for Friday, July 31.

The barbecue is the big party of the year on the country club calendar. Last year, when the tradition had its birth, the entire club membership attended, and a larger crowd is anticipated this year, judging by advance enthusiasm.

Dinner will be served from 6:30 on, and will take up several hours of the evening.

Ladies golf days are increasingly popular, and competition among the feminine golfers is keen. Mrs. Harry Baker won the 54-hole tournament just concluded, with Mrs. C. V. Doty coming in second and Miss Lolita Mead running a close third.

Winners in last Thursday's medal play were Mrs. Jack Colburn, Mrs. C. H. Chapman, Mrs. Dean Campbell, and Mrs. J. L. McFadden.

Mrs. Dean Campbell and Hugh Shields annexed the June mixed foursome, finishing one stroke ahead of their nearest competitors. Mrs. Paul Hall and J. K. McDonald were second, and tying for third were Mrs. Hugh Shields and Howard Rapp, Mrs. Jack Colburn and J. L. McFadden, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Weston.

An old tradition is being revived at the country club with resumption of father and son tournaments. Winners in the last one, in 1933, were Dr. W. C. Wallace and son, Paul Wallace.

Nielsen of 509 West Sixth street, was united in marriage with Charles Manderscheid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Manderscheid of Del Rio, Texas.

Rev. Mr. Perry Austin read the marriage rites at 8:45 o'clock in the presence of relatives and close friends of the couple. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a smart suit of light weight white wool, with blue blouse and accessories, and a corsage of gardenias and Cecil Brunner roses.

Miss Kristine Nielsen of Los Angeles, formerly of this city, attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing turquoise blue lace with a Cecil Brunner rose corsage. Her hat and accessories were all white. Russell Manderscheid attended his brother as best man.

A wedding breakfast followed at the Nielsen home, where Miss Kristine Nielsen assisted her mother in serving. A bride's cake and a novel Danish bridegroom's cake, both made by the bride's father, were cut and served to the guests.

After a short honeymoon, the couple returned to Santa Ana Sunday night and are planning to make their home in Glendale, where the bridegroom is in business. The bride is a popular member of Sigma Beta Chi sorority here.

Mary Stoddard

Success of Marriage Where Ages Differ Depends Upon Personality, Not Years

By MARY STODDARD

Responsibilities and experience make some of us old beyond our years. That's why some of us seem younger at 40 than others are at 25. Many marriages where the husband is older than the wife are quite successful. But frequently, people shy from reversing the age order. They seem to think a man has more youth and frivolity in his nature, and will stay young longer, causing friction if his wife is a great deal older than he.

It is said that a man should be five years older than his wife, to be mentally and emotionally her equal. Yet in the case of today's correspondent, I think these rules fail to apply.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am in love with a young man who has asked me to marry him. However, I am somewhat dubious as to the outcome as he is 25 and I am 34.

Do you think there could be any chance of happiness where the woman is this much older? We look about the same age now. The women in our family stay young looking, and he is old for his age. He has been out in the world working away from home since he was 14. He has never been married and says he has never cared much about girls. I am a widow with three children, a girl 14, a boy 12 and a girl 6. I wonder if there are any women who have made a success of such a marriage? Thanks for your help.

MRS. J. J. Mills, head of City P-T. A. council.

ANTI-FIREWORKS RULING VOTED BY P-T. A.

Endorsing Chief of Police Howard's proposal to make the sale of fireworks illegal in Santa Ana, the city council of Parent-Teacher associations yesterday branded the present attitude of many parents concerning fireworks as "neither conducive to respect for law nor regard for the safety of children."

Meeting at the Laguna Beach cottage of Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, members of the council voted to prohibit sale of fireworks, which can now be sold but not legally be fired within the city limits.

The council's action is in line with national and state P-T. A. congress policies favoring protection of children from physical danger of such playthings as fireworks and war-like toys, and substitution of safe and wholesome recreation for dangerous pastimes.

Mrs. John J. Mills, council president, conducted the business session. Following passage of the anti-fireworks resolution, council chairmen reported plans for activities during the 1936-37 school year.

Plans were made for schools of instruction to be conducted for committee chairmen Aug. 4, and for P-T. A. officers Aug. 5. Pot-luck luncheon was served at noon. Those present were Mesdames Mary Robertson, E. D. Freese, F. D. Corey, O. Z. Robertson, H. Greenwald, E. H. Elmer, Ray Adson, J. J. Mills, Neal Beisel, G. E. Welch, Herbert Hillsbrand, Fred H. Thompson, Richard Laers, R. A. Bond, George T. Calhoun, M. G. Lassiter, H. G. Becker, Hugh Hougham, R. D. Flaherty, and Mrs. Hester Oelwiler and Stella K. Davis.

HONORS FIANCEE OF BROTHER

Mrs. Joe Hazen of 315 Occidental entertained at a miscellaneous shower and informal afternoon of sewing Monday at her home, honoring Miss Lucile Smith, who is soon to become the bride of the hostess' brother, Coy T. Maret.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. John Maret and Mrs. Arthur Blanding, and her sister, Miss Mary Elizabeth. Pink gladioli decorated the rooms where the guests hemmed tea towels for the bride-to-be, and where Mrs. Hazen served dainty refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Gathering to honor Miss Smith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, were her mother and her sister, Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. John Maret, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and the Mesdames Frank E. Lindgren, Amy Bracewell, Curtis Burrow, Elynn Gammel, George Lackaye, J. W. Law, A. B. Sleeper, John Melick, Charles Baldwin, W. A. Chapman, William Breckenridge, A. A. Appleby, and Arthur Blanding, and the latter's sister and the hostess, and her small daughter, Ethel Mae Hazen.

Put an End To Soft Living

By Claud North Chrisman, M. D.

Our entire set of muscles deserve more attention than they usually get.

Most of us are quite proud of the various labor-saving devices we are able to afford. Indeed, motor manufacturers contend that a family must have two automobiles at least to get along comfortably. This from a health standpoint, is a fallacy. We need more, not less exercise.

Most of the large skeletal bones and their controlling muscles are fastened together by tendons. The less exercise we give our muscles, the more chance there will be for the tendons to dry up.

All of our bone surfaces are covered by muscles fibers and all large blood vessels, as well as our internal organs, are buttressed and protected from harm by bands of stout muscle tissue.

We have two sets of muscles, which we call voluntary and involuntary. Perhaps, I should rather say that our muscles are under two kinds of control. We are able, voluntarily, to contract and control the muscles for ordinary purposes by our brain or will power.

The truly involuntary muscles are those which make our lungs and heart function and support the action of stomach, intestines and other vital organs. The work of the latter, however, depend for their success upon the use we make of the former, for they are intimately related. When we stand erect, the center of gravity for the body is in front of the spinal column, but if the muscles which we contract when we stand, should not remain in contraction when we cease thinking about rising, we should find ourselves prone instead.

There are certain outside influences that affect both kinds of muscles, usually to our best interests. If a rapidly moving object approaches the eye, the eyelids close without our volition. When sharp sounds or movements startle us, our faces grow pale and the heart's tempo changes. The normal blood supply is sent scurrying elsewhere to strengthen the muscles that seem to be in need. When we say "our hair stood on end," we mean just that exactly. The tiny muscles in the hairy area, even on the backs of the hands, are contracted and the hair sheath is actually pulled upright. This happens in case of fright or shock.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

Talked with a man last night who has just arrived from the Midwest. According to him, reports of the heat back there have not been exaggerated. But, "crops look very normal where I came through, which was the north central route, including Nebraska, Wyoming, etc."

Now we wouldn't want to minimize the drought back East, but it could be possible that part of it is a "political" drought.

Meaning that President Roosevelt has deemed North Dakota and adjoining states as needing millions of dollars, with relief jobs and other forms of assistance, etc., for 170,000 families (note: it's families not individuals) plus a personal visit by himself in August.

North Dakota... let's see... That's where Presidential Candidate Lemke of the third party is wooing voters, isn't it?

Lemke could be one reason for President Roosevelt's interest around North Dakota.

Good thing every state hasn't a presidential candidate. It'd keep the Democrats busy and us broke!

Watch Waist And Hipline

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Believe it or not, there are a few young married women who do not become alarmed at that first thickening of the waist and hipline that marks the difference between a youthful figure and a matronly one.

No matter how busy you are with your home and babies, you owe it to yourself and to your husband to stay as active, vivacious and youthful looking as you possibly can.

It is usually the muscles that encircle your waistline that are allowed to grow lazy first so that the stomach sags forward and bulges develop around the waistline and hips.

Here are some splendid exercises for keeping the girdle of muscles strong and flexible as it should be.

1. Lie on your back on the floor, knees bent and feet flat on the floor. Now drawing in a breath, draw the abdomen up and in until the small of the back touches the floor. Relax and repeat breathing rhythmically for about 15 counts.

2. Lie on your back, legs extended. Rest the heels on a low stool or large, heavy book. Using the lower back, shoulders and abdomen, raise the spine off the floor so the body is in a straight line from head to heels. Lower the body and repeat 10 times.

A more difficult variation is to raise the knees to the chest, then extend the legs until the heels rest on the stool, raise and lower the body, then again bend the knees up until they touch the chest. Repeat five times.

3. This is the best exercise of all for strengthening the back and abdomen muscles and contracting the latter.

Learn to swim if you can spare an hour two or three times a week. It is the best all-around exercise there is for keeping your figure in trim.

Another Hot Day Dessert

By JUDITH WILSON

Trays of colorful fruits and vegetables in the market inspire pictures of cool combinations that will delight your family and save work for yourself. Summer is no time for you to struggle over balancing your menus, but let me remind you not to serve an entirely hot meal.

If cold cuts or a substantial salad serves as the main course, then start off with a hot soup and end with a juicy berry pie or upside down cake hot from the oven and pass whipped cream or a rum flavored hard sauce with it.

Here is a recipe especially nice for summer eating:

Beat six egg whites until stiff. Add 1/4 cups sugar a tablespoon at a time, beating constantly. Add 1 teaspoon and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cover the bottom of a deep spring-form cake pan with a piece of wet, heavy plain paper. Pour in the egg mixture and bake in a slow oven about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Cool and remove from the pan. Crush and fill with chilled raspberries. Garnish with whipped cream and additional raspberries. If you wish, a layer of ice cream can be used in the center and topped with slightly crushed berries.

NEW CAR SALES MAY CREATE SHORTAGE

FIELD STOCKS LOWER THAN ESTIMATED

Manufacturers in Few Brackets Limited on Materials

DETROIT—Definite indications of new car shortages in some lines appeared on the automotive horizon as the industry entered July.

Field stocks are lower than projections of 30 days ago estimated and, with the last 10 days of June believed to have been the heaviest retail sales period of 1936, it is logical that they will skid still further this month.

The shortages, if such develop, will be another break for the volume builders.

Can't Boost Orders

Manufacturers in the medium and high priced brackets operate within fixed limits, so far as their material commitments are concerned. They cannot boost orders even though demand warrants, without paying high premiums.

As choice customers, the volume builders do not face the same restrictions. No supplier snubs an order, for say, 50,000 parts, whereas he may figure he is out money in re-equipping his factory for 5000.

Counting 450,000 in June, American production on 1936 models (November and December included) has passed 3,600,000 and July's output will run the total close to four million. This is far better than any previous experience of the industry, excepting the all-time record of 1929.

Sales From Bonus

August assembly of cars will be off sharply, not so much from falling demand, as the aforementioned shortage of materials with some manufacturers, who have increased their July schedules at the expense of model year-end runs.

Despite anticipated manufacturing levels, sales in April, May and June approximated production. June may set a 1936 high, although field reports are not complete. In the opinion of many executives, the industry was caught short in its forecasts of soldier bonus business. Many companies felt bonus sales had been discounted months before the payment. They are finding this was not the case.

Driver Didn't Practice What He Preached

EVANSTON, Ill. (P)—Harry W. Dietrich, 50, arrived at the police station to demonstrate an invention—an improved flare to warn motorists of automobiles stalled without lights.

The police welcomed him with two warrants, each several months old, charging him with parking without lights.

U. S. in First Place as Auto Makers Hit Faster Pace

WASHINGTON.—World production of passenger cars, trucks and buses in 1935 totaled 5,126,630 units, over a million and a quarter more than the 3,735,841 produced in 1934, according to reports from the department of commerce.

This mark is 18.3 per cent under the record year of 1929, when output was placed at 6,277,451.

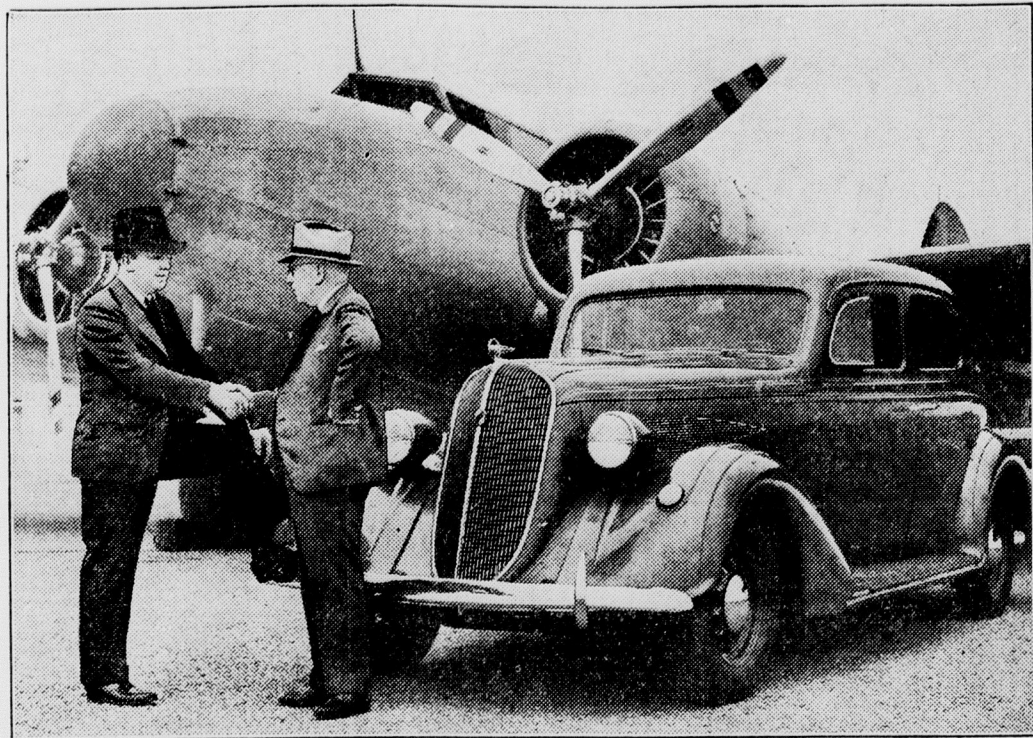

The low point in recent years was recorded in 1932, with a total of 1,976,963.

Largest Producer

In 1935 the United States made still further headway as the largest producer of motor vehicles in the world by turning out 77 per cent of the entire world production as compared with 73.3 per cent of the total in 1934.

During the past three years this report shows that manufacturers of automobiles and trucks in this country have been getting an increasingly larger share of the world production of automobiles despite the reports that the motor industry in other countries had shown a relatively better improvement than has been experienced at home.

United Air Line Top 100,000,000-Mile Mark

Carl J. Simpson, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Nash Motor company, Northern California distributors of Nash and La Fayette cars, congratulates C. E. Johnson, divisional superintendent of United Air Lines, upon completion of its one-hundredth million-mile of flying. Left to right, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Simpson. Note comparative streamlining of the Nash "400" and the huge Boeing transport plane.

Completion of its one hundred millionth mile of flying, a distance greater than from the earth to the sun, was nationally observed June 17 by United Air Lines.

During the time it has taken to record this vast mileage, airplanes have developed from the wood and canvas "crate" stage, capable of a top speed of 90 miles an hour, to their present peak of perfection, the all-metal-200-mile-an-hour luxury air liners in use today.

Just as far reaching a revolution has occurred in the design and construction of automobiles during the same period, according to Carl J. Simpson, vice president and general manager of Pacific Nash Motor company, northern California distributors of Nash-La Fayette cars. In fact, both mediums of transportation have developed along parallel lines, Mr. Simpson points out, and both have strongly influenced each other as to appearance, construction and mechanical improvements.

14 STATES TURN 'THUMBS DOWN' ON HITCH-HIKERS

WASHINGTON.—Hitch-hikers have thumbed their way into legislative disfavor in almost one-third of the states, it was asserted by the National Highway Users Conference in reporting 14 states and the District of Columbia now have laws prohibiting roadside solicitation of rides in motor vehicles.

Several states also have enacted laws limiting motorists' liability for the safety of those who become their "guests" through elevation of the primary digit of the hand. During the last year five states were added to the list.

Chrysler Gives Employees' Sons Trip

Shown above is K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler corporation, bidding good-bye to the first truckload of boys, sons of Chrysler Motor employees, as they left Detroit June 24 on their 1800-mile tour of eastern cities and places of historic interest. Dodge trucks carrying 60 boys comprised the first caravan. Four other groups of 60 boys each will take the same tour before school starts next fall. These trips are made possible by Chrysler, inasmuch as the boys' parents are charged only one-third of the actual cost, the company paying the rest.

Sixty boys, sons of Chrysler corporation workmen, started a few days ago in six specially built Dodge buses on a 1800-mile educational trip to spots of historic interest and principal cities in the eastern part of the United States. This was announced today through the L. D. Coffing company, local Dodge dealer.

This trip is believed to be the first of its kind ever sponsored by an industrial organization for the benefit of the children of its workers. Before school begins next fall, a total of four other trips over the same route will be taken, making a total of 300 boys who will benefit from this movement which is offered them by Chrysler Motors at approximately one-third of the actual cost.

The itinerary of the trip, starting from Detroit, follows: Pittsburgh, Gettysburg battlefield, Washington and vicinity (three days), Washington's home at Mount Vernon, historic Potomac river and old Alexandria in Virginia. Competent guides are provided at all points of interest.

After leaving Washington, the rest of the itinerary includes the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Baltimore, spots of historic interest in Philadelphia, and then on to New York City via the Hudson river tunnel. While in New York three days, the visit includes Radio City, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the zoological and botanical gardens, Battery park, the New York aquarium, steamship piers, Wall street, old Trinity church, Chinatown, Harlem, the Ghetto and many other places of educational significance.

Leaving New York they stop at West Point and the United States military academy.

EIGHTEEN to 24 lon of gasoline"...report Dodge owners from coast to coast! They say the big, new, 1936 Dodge "Beauty Winner" is actually costing them less to own and operate than any car, big or small, they ever owned. No wonder more people buy Dodge cars than any other make excepting the three lowest-priced cars.

Sales, New and Used Tractors and Implements—Tractor Repairing Electric and Acetylene Welding

By OTTO ROWE

C. J. Skirvin is back on the job after one swell vacation, and I might add he said a "dam hot one at that." How to cross the country these days in your car and keep cool is one difficult problem.

"We had the best success," he said, "by buying dry ice just before crossing the desert and placing this ice in a small box next to the air draft in front of the driver's seat. This gave plenty of circulation to the air that was cooled off by the ice."

"Some folks had a little better success when they used an electric fan which played a brisk breeze on the dry ice suspended in mid-air in a wire basket."

A new tractor concern opened its doors for business a few days ago in Tustin. A. H. & E. W. Clasen are the owners. These brothers now have two places of business; the other Clasen Tractor and Equipment company is located in Anaheim where they have been for the past five years.

In the first six months of 1936 net earnings of the Packard Motor Car company will be approximately the same as for the entire year of 1935, according to V. R. Byrne, local Packard dealer. During the same period of 1936, Packard's sales will have totaled about 34,000 cars, an increase of 16,700 cars or 97 per cent over the first six months of 1935, he said.

NEW AUTO LOAN RACKET FOUND

POMONA. (P)—Oscar Daniels, 20, and Elmo Bowen, 22, both of Pomona, were arrested recently on suspicion of grand theft charges in what Inspector E. J. Bradley of the California motor patrol described as a scheme to defraud automobile loan agencies.

Inspector Bradley said the two men obtained $200 each from a Los Angeles loan Co., from the Morris Plan Loan Co., in Stockton, and from the Pacific Southwest Discount Corp., in Oakland, all on the same automobile.

The officer declared the two would buy a cheap car and then somehow transfer the ownership certificate to a large, new machine they owned and thereby obtain a loan.

License 50,000 Commercial Cars

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Fifty thousand commercial vehicles have been licensed by the state railroad commission since enactment of a regulation last September that all "for hire" machines must show commission card cards besides license plates.

OIL HORNS, WIPERS

Grain Market

CHICAGO. (AP)—Bears definitely got the upper hand in wheat dealings late today, and Chicago prices in some cases were 2 cents a bushel down.

Reports of continuous rains today in parts of the Canadian dry wheat belt were received, with assertions that the rainfall area was spreading and giving extended relief to drought afflicted wheat. Corn reacted with wheat, and December corn lost all of its overnight advance, though July and September corn remained relatively strong.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 1/2 cents lower to 2c higher compared with yesterday's finish. July 1.05 1/2, September 1.05 1/2, December 1.05 1/2. Corn closed 1/2 cent down, September 78c, December 78c, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to 5 cents advance. Prices follow:

Monopoly? It's Unhealthy!

EVERY now and then some individual suddenly gets the bright idea that if he can corner a monopoly on any particular line of business in a community—he can clean up!

This happens whether the aforesaid individual is selling gasoline, patented articles or newspapers. Such ideas are pretty dangerous to the general public—if the owner can put them into effect.

Once an uncontrolled monopoly is secured, the public pays through the nose. Especially in the newspaper business. We can think of dozens of one-newspaper towns where the publisher is about as popular and useful as poison ivy.

Trouble is that he sometimes develops grand ideas about getting rich through raising advertising and subscription rates, and getting powerful through controlling elections. It's what a doctor might describe as megalomania; which means, according to Webster, a form of insanity in which the patient has grandiose delusions concerning himself.

Monopoly doesn't work satisfactorily in America. That's why there are two parties in national government, instead of just one, as in Hitlerland.

And that's why most towns of anything approaching Santa Ana's importance prefer to have two newspapers.

The embalmed body of a woman kept by Utah cultists has disappeared. They can now truthfully sing that old ballad: "I Ain't Got Nobody."

'Atta Boy, City Dads!

CITY DADS are diving now into this park business with foresight and enthusiasm that should make every lover of a beautiful city get up on his toes and shout "Atta Boy!"

Purchase of a Main street entrance to Santiago park—now in the making—was a stroke of good judgment. The park, when completed, will need a decent entrance, and it will be improved by the two acres of eucalyptus grove for picnic grounds.

The new addition now fills in the combined Santa Ana-Orange county-Orange city park acreage from Main street east for more than a mile along Santiago creek—covering some 40 acres.

When finished, this novel strip park will be one of the unique resorts of Southern California.

The investment for Santa Ana is low. The upkeep will be slight. And park visitors will have not only the facilities of the Santa Ana section, but also of the county and city of Orange portions.

It's a happy combination. The City Dads are to be complimented for going ahead with it. And the people will benefit.

Apparently that walk that Senator Borah took on the G. O. P. was right around in a circle.

A New Weapon

KING EDWARD, by an inspection trip, has just called the world's attention to England's latest weapon—a tiny torpedo motorboat carrying a crew of but five men and capable of skimming the waves at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

The young king put to sea on one of these relatively inexpensive crafts, and saw it loose a torpedo capable of sinking a mighty battleship.

England, like all Europe, is arming herself today, and employing science and invention to produce new and deadlier means of defense.

Of all nations, this country today has least to fear from friendly Britain—but what the British are doing, other countries which at some future date might war upon us, are doing also.

Such instruments of defensive warfare as these deadly little "mosquitoes" should be seriously studied by our war department, along with other methods of strengthening our coast defenses.

Who is the boss of this strike? Why is he in hiding?

Militia Not Needed Here

ALTHOUGH strike violence has become pretty widespread, there's no need to get panicky and call out the National Guard, as some have suggested. Local authorities and the State Highway patrol have the situation well in hand.

Summoning soldiers and clamping on martial law might merely aggravate the trouble. There would be just that many more men around with loaded guns—and some of them might have itchy trigger fingers.

Local authorities have things under control. Let's not make the mistake of bringing in militia.

What Price Strawberries?

PEOPLE who prefer children to strawberries will be interested in the following dispatch to The New Orleans Item Tribune:

"Baton Rouge, June 25.—For the third time in 12 years the Louisiana legislature today refused to ratify the National Child Labor Amendment.

"Answering the pleadings of Rep. Charles Anzalone, Independence, that acceptance of the child labor law would bring ruin and desolation to Louisiana's strawberry belt, the house voted 80 to 9 to reject ratification of the amendment."

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.—Ray Dooley, who was heard over the radio recently, was one of the few comedien-

to make Ziegfeld indulge more than a glum smile. He was known to laugh out loud once at her, always chuckled, and featured her in many of the Follies. Miss Dooley is noted for her roles as a crying baby or perhaps better, a squalling brat. She reached her peak in burlesque harlequinades with W. C. Fields who pushed her about in a perambulator. She is an expert dancer and has taken a dancing lesson every day for 15 years.

She is also an accomplished acrobat, coming from a Philadelphia family of acrobats. Her three brothers, Gordon, William and Johnny were featured in vaudeville and musical revues as knock-out comedians. All died in their 20's, many said as the result of so many terrific falls.

Miss Dooley is the wife of Eddie Dowling, actor and producer, with whom she appeared on the air. Despite the bluntness of her performances, she is an extremely shy, self effacing lady. Rarely seen in the haunts of stage folk, she is rarely happier than cooking a meal for friends.

On Eighth avenue there is a Chinatown. This is an automatic restaurant from whose slots a patron may secure all the Chinese dishes. And that reminds me, I have never seen a Chinese customer in a chop suey shop not even in Chinatown. And, of course, chop suey is unknown in China save Shanghai. The biggest Chinese cafe patronage comes from chorus girls after the show.

If Variety's box score for critics is a reliable gauge—and theater men think it is—Gilbert Gabriel is again the most accurate dramatic critic in town. He has led the list for two successive seasons and has been at the top four times in all. Out of 90 reviews, he judged wrong seven times. Gabriel's nearest contender was John Mason Brown, the only red-head among the critics.

Up in Yonkers, I notice there is The Grassy Stain Country club. Out in Westchester, is The Sour Hound. And Oklahoma has The Blue Gizzard. Country clubs do not have to be so particular about titles. But many summer resorts and roadside hotels live and fall by names. They must have a wallop for the hurrying stranger's eye. Roscoe Peacock's eagle eyes discovered a choice one in the Poonoos of Eastern Pennsylvania. Bucks Hill Falls Inn! All the delights of an outing are there—Buck suggests large game and wilderness. Hill brings the moon, tains vista and Falls scenic beauty with the suggestion of fishing and boating.

Somewhere on the motor road between Los Angeles and San Diego—near La Jolla, as I recall—is, at least was a few years ago, a tumble down chalet whose weather scarred sign bore the name "Friendship Hall." Ordinarily we would have smiled at its Babbity. But it was late and we were exquisitely tired after a fretful day. And it proved one of those chancy delights that makes motoring so often high adventure. A ponderous feather bed and an awning to the gay chirp of birds in a cascade of golden sun and the lingering scent of mimosa. From the kitchen, the clang of pots and pans. A bosomy lady and her three cheerful daughters sang at their morning work. An Eddie Guest poem sort of a place!

Big New York inns usually have a half dozen or more assistant managers who handle their jobs somewhat geographically. They are men who have worked in other parts of the country. Thus at the Waldorf, Biltmore, Commodore, etc., one from California gives personal attention to patrons from California, Washington, Oregon and Nevada. Another from the middle west tries to exchange a little home gossip from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky. And one from some southern city greets those from Georgia, Louisiana and the like. Since the depression, competition in Manhattan hotels has spawned a brand of courtesy never known before. The snooty, nail-polishing, tie-adjusting clerk is an abomination of the past. Every staff is on its toes. New York hotel visiting was never so pleasant.

Manufacturers of the industrial state of Sao Paulo, Brazil, were valued at about $14,460,000 in 1923, dropped to nearly $113,820,000 in 1930 and are estimated to have climbed to approximately $208,000,000 last year, with a higher valuation expected in 1936.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—The boys around Henry Wallace's agrarianism department go around with broad grins on their faces whenever anyone mentions cotton these days.

Unbelievable as it may seem, there is a shortage of cotton. Textile manufacturers are bombarding the AAA with urgent wires pleading for the release of government-held stocks in order to keep their mills running.

A million bales of this reserve, released several weeks ago, has been consumed, and the AAA will shortly unload another large supply. The demand has brought government stocks of cotton down to approximately 3,500,000 bales—about half of the maximum once held.

AAA executives believe that before the 1936 crop reaches the market the government reserve will be cut to around 2,500,000 bales. This was the amount in government possession when the New Deal took office in 1933.

Two reasons are behind the rising demand: (1) Marked improvement in business. Principle consumers of cotton in recent months have been makers of automobiles, tires, shirts, dresses, upholstery, and similar consumer goods. (2) This year's crop is somewhat backward due to inclement weather conditions.

COTTON DEALS

When the Roosevelt administration took office it inherited 2,500,000 bales of cotton from Hoover's farm board. This has been disposed of. The New Deal itself went heavily into the business of accumulating cotton to bolster up sagging prices.

At the close of the year 1933 Uncle Sam had more than 7,000,000 bales of cotton on his hands—approximately one-half of a year's domestic output. The situation appeared serious. But in 1935 things began to break the other way.

When the new season opened this spring, the government had reduced its reserves to 4,500,000 bales. Wallace's experts at that time estimated that another 1,000,000 bales would be sold before the new crop reached the market. Their calculations proved to be too conservative.

Current demands indicate that the figure will be closer to two million than to one.

Note: The cotton situation is certain to have important political effects in the south. A strong cotton market with good prices plays havoc with Republican hopes of making any inroads whatever.

DROUGHT REPORT

While cotton is apparently coming out of its long sojourn in the doldrums, other farm commodities are bringing frowns to Wallace's staff.

The crop report to be published next Friday by the department of agriculture and religion from a soap box in Columbus Circle, the haven for discontents. ### THOSE COURTHOUSE RAISES

To the Editor: If you should ask the taxpayers of Santa Ana to express their views on the subject, I believe 90 per cent of them would just rewrite your editorial in Monday's Journal, "Courthouse Pay Raises." I am sure I would do so.

SANTA ANA TAXPAYER.

SCHOOL CLOSING DATE

To the Editor: May I call your attention to a matter which I have been considering for some time and which, I believe, has some merit? Why not change the opening of the schools in the following three counties, Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange, to the first week in October and close them during the first week in July? At the present time the schools are closing during the first or second week of June which is before the summer season really begins. This means that the business firms of all of Orange county, and especially those of the beaches, are losing more than 15 days of business during the month of June; and the people of the interior counties are receiving no benefit from the cooling sea breezes since they feel no particular need of sojourning at the seashore at this time of the season. The schools usually open the first or second week of September which is about the hottest month of the summer. This means that parents are compelled to take their children from the cool beaches into the heat of the interior. The merchants are again being deprived of over 15 days of summer business, while those who have houses to rent are losing money on their investment.

After all, schools exist for children and should be conducted for the benefit of the child. Just because schools have opened their doors in the fall at a certain time for years, does not necessarily mean that they can not open more profitably at some other time. From July 1 to July 1 is the school year. Why not open the schools at a date when they may conform to the fiscal year? This would also help the transient children who have to follow the harvesting of crops that they may subsist, especially the Mexican children. It might be well to bring the matter to the attention of the most interested in the two angles, viz., financial and child welfare, of the three counties most concerned and get their reaction.

No one wants to interfere with the efficient operation of our schools, neither do we wish to deprive those who finance the maintenance of the schools of any legitimate income. H. STANDARD, Santa Ana.

Correspondence from the Midwest expresses an uneasiness over climatic conditions. The correspondent says "we are roasting to death in the summer and freezing to death in the winter." The statement is figurative but the weather is real. The Midwest used to glow with its Indian summer enchantment, its moderate winter, charming spring, and colorful autumn. Now the four seasons appear to have been merged into two—hot and cold.

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

The Good Old Summer Time Appeals to All

THE YEAR rises to its flood when July, in golden chariot, swings across the heavens. Summer's pulse registers its fastest beat. The grains and fruits of fields and orchards are swelling to maturity. First flush of ripeness splashes faintest streaks of yellow, where crystallizing sunshine is hanging on tree and shrub. Summer's sun has reached its highest point and lingers awhile before sliding inch by inch down the azure vault. Everywhere, in all this broad land, July is different from the run of months. Everywhere, except by this western sea. For here there is little difference between any round of days, as the seasons come and go.

In 44 B. C. Julius Caesar had mounted to the summit of human glory. The whole civilized world lay at his feet. Men began to whisper his name as if he were a god. The dagger of Brutus already was aimed at his life. But for the moment Julius was supreme. And since his birth had occurred in the fifth month, Quintilis, the Roman senate decreed that henceforth that month should be named after the conqueror. Hence, we still call the month July, because a dyspeptic old Roman warrior wished it so. But the month had 30 days. "Would never do for divine Caesar's birth-month to be short. So February, at that time the last month of the year, was robbed of a day and it was added to July.

And, when Augustus Caesar wanted a month named after him, also, it was further ordained that

Skinny Skribbles

Here's a hang-over not caused by cocktails or any sort of spirits. Citizens take time out to see the San Francisco earthquake picture. The vividly stuck to him. He couldn't shake the mental picture. He attended the performance on the Third of July. According to customary chronological order the Fourth follows the Third, and the neighbor boy who exploded a giant firecracker under citizen's bedroom window, caused the dog to turn over a chair, and that San Francisco earthquake was in progress again with all the realism of the 1906 disaster.

The old philosopher was in and said when the government asked him if business could run itself, he answered by asking if the government could run the postoffice department?

Considerable of the Valencia orange crop is to go. Where it goes is a matter of importance to orange county growers. If it is to go on the ground there won't be any returns for the growers, and if there are no returns for the growers it's a cinch there won't be any returns for the merchants or financial circles through which it naturally percolates. There shouldn't be any temporizing in this emergency. If "business as usual" is to be the slogan there can't be any interference in the harvest of the Valencia orange crop. Violence is an act of impending defeat. Let's get this strike over by a vigorous enforcement of law. I've got half a dozen oranges I want to ship.

Remnants of a storm reached Santa Ana Tuesday evening, and a few rain drops fell. Say, if we had received a drenching rain wouldn't it have sent the old-timers back into the storehouse of memory to find a time when a similar storm occurred? Rainfall in July in this part of California can well be referred to as "unusual."

Witnessed the acrobatic stunts of an automobile. It was a hurdle test. Gosh, I didn't like the sensation. The car stood it better than I did. All my life I've been looking for smooth roads, and now comes along a car that goes any place and does most everything. Still, if I had the money darned if I wouldn't buy one, but I'd keep it on the smooth pavement. You see there is no telling when I would be able to buy another car.

I did not know how cool it was in Santa Ana until I chanced to encounter Howard Wood. Then I remembered the secretary's slogan: "It's always cool in Santa Ana." I felt better, but I am yet to be convinced that my feelings in any wise changed the temperature.

Some firm sends me a notice about scalp treatments. That was customary in the days of General Custer, but never popular. I don't know there is much wrong with my scalp except there isn't enough hair on it, and dandruff wants to hair on it. I usually get a parking space, but if you are industrious you can make the overtime too expensive and the dandruff will vacate. I've never worried so much about what there was on the top of my head nearly as much as I have about what's inside of it.

Willard Smith on one side and Milan Miller on the other with yours truly in the center makes a squeeze play which gets too close for comfort. If it were not for damaging the cars I am sure that I would not have escaped so luckily.

Notice in the Elks publications where the grand lodge will put on a parade at the international convention to be held in Los Angeles, Thursday, July 16. Hope the weather moderates. If my recollection serves me right I was in a parade that city in 1909. The parade was all right but the distance was too great. The fellows who led the parade got home that same night, and the Elks at the end of the line arrived the next morning. Maybe that wasn't the reason but it was a fact. I think the Santa Ana boys went around their neck, and came back with a sore throat. I never led a parade since the days of the old torch light processions when I let my political enthusiasm spoil a good suit of clothes. The way to abuse over a parade is to let the other fellow do the marching.

This department wishes to apologize for having printed no news of the Republican or Democratic conventions. This was due to an oversight. We thought the conventions did not open until next year.
